

Opening Unfinished Bridge Is Possibility Opposition Hinted for Ike's Proposals

Democrats Preparing For Fight Enactment Seen By GOP Leaders

Washington Jan. 11 (P)—Congressional Democrats made it plain today President Eisenhower will have to fight for parts of his program despite the extent of his re-election victory last fall.

Influential Democrats took quick exception to some of the legislative proposals Eisenhower laid before Congress yesterday in his annual State of the Union message.

Applause interrupted Eisenhower's delivery of the 33-minute message only five times as he made his second personal appearance before Congress in less than a week.

Knowland Confident

By comparison, in 1953 Eisenhower was applauded 55 times in 57 minutes as he delivered his first State of the Union speech, and in 1955 he was applauded 20 times in 53 minutes.

Despite this obvious coolness, Senate GOP leader Knowland of California said he is confident a "substantial" portion of Eisenhower's program will be enacted. Chairman Saltonstall (Mass.) of the conference of all Republican senators agreed. Republicans generally praised the President's proposals.

Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson promised the Senate will study the President's abbreviated proposals to be enlarged upon in subsequent messages.

Battle Evident

But it was evident many Democrats were preparing for a battle.

As an example of how some of them felt, Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) predicted the Democratic Congress will ignore Eisenhower's suggestion for creation of a commission of private citizens to make a broad survey of the nation's financial system.

Texas Gives View

Rep. Patman (D-Tex.), who is slated to head the projected House inquiry, said today an independent investigation would only serve to delay enactment of possible congressional remedies. He said administration fiscal planners "are getting ready for a depression" with tight credit and high interest rates.

The administration has said these are needed to help curb inflation, and Eisenhower cautioned yesterday that "the danger (of inflation) is always present."

More Opposition Seen

Chairman Russell (D-Ga.) of the Senate Armed Services Committee signaled expected opposition to Eisenhower's forthcoming military and foreign aid budgets.

Area Digs Out From Snow; 28 Deaths Attributed to Storm Throughout U. S.

Ulster county was digging itself out today from the first major snow storm of the season as winter's icy hands gripped New York state and the following were reported during the near blizzard or in its wake:

1) Four deaths were listed in the state due to the storm, according to the Associated Press. The AP said at least 28 deaths in the U. S. were attributed to the frigid cold and snow.

Fire Near Bridge

2) A Sawkill store was destroyed by fire early today, and the Dutchess county sheriff's office reported a one-story ranch house near the eastern approach to the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge at Rhinebeck was destroyed by fire.

3) Four accidents were reported by state police and the Ulster county sheriff's office, one driver was arrested following one of them, but no personal injuries were listed, and

4) Snow removal and plowing by crews of the county highway

Membership Will Elect Directors Of Chest Jan. 28

The annual membership meeting of the Kingston Area Community Chest, Inc., will be held Monday, Jan. 28, at the Governor Clinton Hotel, it was announced today by N. Jansen Fowler, president.

The dinner meeting with a speaker to be announced will be followed by the election of directors-at-large, as provided in the Chest by-laws. Each contributor to the Community Chest campaign is considered a member of the corporation and is entitled to a vote. The dinner will be served promptly at 6:30 p. m.

Committee Members

Clifford G. Smith is chairman of the annual meeting committee. Others on his committee are Mrs. Donovan Buehring, Mrs. John B. Glennon, Harold E. Keator Jr., David Kline and Howard C. St. John.

Tickets for the dinner may be purchased at the Community Chest office, 209 Clinton avenue, or from any of the member agencies (Boys Club, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Jewish Community Center, Salvation Army, Volunteers of America, YMCA or YWCA). Persons not desiring to attend the dinner will be admitted later to hear the talk and participate in the election.

Victory Year

Officers for the coming year are elected by the new board of directors, which must hold its organizational meeting within 30 days of the annual membership meeting.

This year's annual meeting will serve also as celebration of the Chest's first campaign "victory" since its organization in 1954. The campaign pledges last week exceeded the $108,000 goal.

Chief's Son Is Held for Thefts Around Red Hook

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Jan. 11 (P)—The son of the police chief of the village of Red Hook in northern Dutchess county was arrested last night on charges of robbing a number of gas stations and garages. Sheriff C. Fred Close announced.

Close said the arrested man is Arthur Thomas Jones, 26, of Ancram, N. Y., and that his father is Melvin Jones. Young Jones was charged with third degree burglary in the theft of tires, batteries and oil from garages including ones in Rhinebeck and Staatsburg. He was held in the county jail here.

Stang Will Cut Ribbon Opening Car Show Jan. 16

Mayor Frederick H. Stang of Kingston will cut the ribbon opening the city's second annual modern automobile show at the State Armory next Wednesday, January 16, at 7 p. m., it was announced today by Robert N. Nadler, chairman. The show continues through Saturday night.

To Show Color TV

In addition to the display of new automobiles, a number of special exhibits will be provided, among them two color television sets to be shown by L. B. Watrous, appliance dealer. One of these sets will be in operation in the drill shed, and the other in Watrous' own booth in the gymnasium.

Moving pictures of the Indianapolis speedway will be shown by one of the dealers.

State Clarification Is Sought on School Plans

Kingston Board Awaits Referendum Vote Before Any Action on Consolidation With Rural Area Districts

A representative of the State Education Department will be asked to meet with the Kingston Board of Education to clarify certain problems connected with Greater Kingston Area Consolidation.

The board directed Superintendent Earl Soper to communicate with the State Education Department and request that Francis Griffin, chief of the bureau of rural administrative services, visit Kingston for consultation with board members.

Reports on Surveys

The decision last night to invite a state education official to Kingston was made following a discussion of the status of the proposed consolidation. David

Kline, chairman of the Greater Kingston Area committee of the board, reviewed the work of the committee in recent weeks in its study of consolidation problems, pointing out that a number of meetings had been held in rural districts and that several of the districts had drawn up petitions requesting the State Education Department to lay out a consolidation area.

He explained, however, that a kind of impasse had been reached in discussions with state officials who wish to be assured that the Kingston Board of Education will approve consolidation before a Greater Kingston Area consolidation plan is laid out.

Up to City People

The local board has announced that it would submit the question of consolidation to a referendum. It cannot, therefore, approve consolidation before such a vote is taken.

It was the consensus of the board that it should proceed democratically, submit the question to referendum and look to the people for guidance. Of course, the board is not required by law to submit the question to the people. Even if a referendum was opposed to consolidation, the board could still approve it, if it chose to do so.

It was explained that in many other similar consolidations in the state the cities had promised to go along with consolidation if the rural districts approved such a course.

Tax Considered

It was pointed out that consolidation would mean an increase of "two or three dollars" in the tax rate. On the other hand, Kingston would lose considerable aid if she lost her rural pupils now attending local schools.

It's hard to "pin it down" with crystal clarity, one member stated, pointing out that the board was "working with variables."

Kingston Has Choice

The question was raised, "Suppose we don't go into consolidation?" It was explained that the Kingston schools were under no compulsion to enter a Greater Kingston Area Consolidation. The rural districts, on the other hand, have no choice in the matter.

It was the feeling of some that if Kingston refused consolidation the State Education Department might attempt to persuade the city to alter its position—or, permit the rural districts surrounding Kingston to centralize.

It was felt that the four Hurley school districts might join the Ontario Central School in which case Woodstock would possibly move in that direction also. It is believed that West Hurley—with two million dollars of the three million assessed valuation of the four Hurley districts—is the "key."

Report Considered

The board took cognizance of a letter from Roland Riegel, new supervising principal of the Rondout Valley Central School, pointing out that the central district hoped to complete its program (Continued on Page 5, Col. 4)

No Lights May Force Day Travel

Petitions Push Early Span Use

Pressure by residents of the area may bring about opening of the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge before full completion of sidewalks, curbing and lights.

This was announced today by Ernest M. Heppner, Kingston member of the New York State Bridge Authority.

Mr. Heppner, who said about 6,000 feet of concrete curbing and sidewalks remain unfinished at the middle of the span, told the press a conference of the Authority is scheduled Saturday to talk about opening it to motor traffic.

Lights Not Ready

He pointed out that electrical work has not progressed to the stage where lights can be hooked up, which calls for a study of using the span during daylight hours, and closing it off at dusk.

Mr. Heppner said a daylight schedule should take care of industrial plant workers traveling to and from their jobs, shoppers and motorists traveling the state highway systems.

Too Cold to Pour

A tentative opening date of February 1, for a finished bridge, has been put aside by temperatures too cold for pouring concrete.

Mr. Heppner, who has been anxious himself to put the bridge in use, said the Authority is cognizant of hundreds of signatures sent to the Authority pressing for opening the span.

A copy of the petitions mailed to The Freeman includes names from various sectors of Ulster and Dutchess counties calling for use of the bridge.

Workers Inconvenienced

Many of the names are of IBM employees forced to travel to and from Poughkeepsie by car due to the suspension of ferry service over the river by ice that clogged the path of the craft.

The ferry stopped running last Sunday.

Mr. Heppner said the Bridge Authority conference would study the possibility of opening the span prior to completion of curbing, through the use of barricades for protection on the sides.

Wish to Cooperate

"We haven't any date in mind," he said, "but desire to accommodate motorists calling for the bridge to open as soon as possible."

He said that Milton Elkow, resident engineer for D. B. Steinman, designer of the bridge, would attend the conference. Also Edward Burns of Catskill, executive officer of the Authority.

Members of the Authority meeting with Mr. Heppner will be John Stillman of Cornwall, Neal Brandow of Coxsack and Dr. John Edwards of Hudson.

Robert Hoe of Poughkeepsie, fifth member, is wintering in Florida.

Editors Can't See Court Changes Proposals Still Afford 'Bench' too Much Discretion

New York, Jan. 11 (P)—The state temporary commission on the courts today recommended nine amendments to the Youth Court Act of 1956.

Two would assure press access to youth courts and one would postpone the effective date of the act from Feb. 1 until next Jan. 1 except in counties where an earlier effective date is desired.

President Gives View

In Utica, Charles A. King III, president of the New York State Society of Newspaper Editors, described those three proposals as "totally inadequate." King said "entirely too much discretion is being left to the bench." He also pointed out that the society has urged postponement of the effective date to April 1, 1958. That would give the 1958 Legislature an opportunity to consider changes.

The report, filed with the State Legislature and Gov. Averell Harriman, recommended postponement of the act's effective date "in order that preparation and financing might be more readily arranged."

On Press Coverage

Concerning press coverage, the commission recommended that case records remain public

Woman, 72, Suffers Smoke Poisoning In 5-Apartment Blaze Here Thursday

Mrs. Blandina B. Wolven, 72, suffered smoke poisoning during a fire which started in her refrigerator and burned through a section of a five-apartment building at 406 Washington avenue last night.

Taken from her second-floor apartment by Elwin Hanley, of 408 Washington avenue, Mrs. Wolven was brought first to the house of a neighbor and was later conveyed by a Schultz ambulance to the Benedictine Hospital where her condition was reported today as "fair."

Firemen found the kitchen fully involved when they arrived and said the blaze, which destroyed the kitchen and its contents, and spread damage elsewhere in the building, was a stubborn one to check.

The call was at 9:12 p. m., and firemen were at the house until after 2 a. m. today. Wiltwyck station responded first, and after Deputy Fire Chief George D. Matthews, who was in charge, arrived there he called men and equipment from Central station and the Wicks Engine Company salvage unit. Excelsior Hose Company was sent to stand by at Wiltwyck station.

The living room and contents were damaged, a section of hallway was blistered, and other areas in the building were less seriously damaged by smoke and water. The blaze spread to a blind attic and to a narrow area between two roofs where it became most stubborn and forced removal of some roofing.

Fire Chief James M. Brett said the Wicks unit did excellent work in protecting contents of the other apartments.

The building, an asbestos-covered frame structure, is owned by Mary Y. Spencer, who occupies a first-floor apartment. Also on the first floor are the apartment of James Harrington, and the barber shop of Philip Faloutico. The other apartment next to that of Mrs. Wolven is occupied by Margaret Whittaker.

Two pump streams were used in fighting the blaze.

Officers George Dohnken, Floyd Krom, Harry Tempelaar and Edward Edwards were dispatched to the area to handle traffic.

The temperature was nearing zero as firemen fought the fire and coffee and sandwiches were supplied by the Salvation Army. Union Hose Company answered a call at 6:15 p. m., for a car fire at Sycamore and Catherine street. The emergency brake had overheated in the sedan of Mildred Cuzza, of 85 St. James street.

A report at 9:12 a. m., today that smoke was coming from the First Reformed Church, Main and Wall streets, was investigated, and it turned out to be vapor fuming from a pipe in cold air. Another apparent fire scare at 10:20 a. m., resulted in the discovery of steam coming from a pipe at 77 Main street.

Senate Expected to Begin Talks on School Building

Washington, Jan. 11 (P)—Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) said today he believes the Senate will take the lead in this Congress in acting on school construction legislation.

Smith, senior Republican on the labor committee which handles such legislation, said he understood leaders in both branches had agreed the Senate should try to handle the tough issue first this time.

Speaker of the House Rayburn (D-Tex.) told reporters yesterday, however, he hoped that a school bill would be one of the first things acted on by the House this session.

And a Senate Democratic source predicted that the Senate, as it did last year, would wait until the House acts before passing the proposal.

President Eisenhower, in his State of the Union message yesterday, urged that the Congress give "high priority" to a school construction bill to meet the nation's classroom shortages.

And he told the lawmakers he hoped the measure would not be complicated by tying to it provisions dealing with the "complex problems" of racial integration of schools.

Smith said he plans to introduce the administration's school bill in the Senate Monday. He said it would call for the same $1.4 billion dollars of federal allotments as the 1956 version, but that the amount would be split over four years instead of five as in last year's bill. The new measure also is expected to contain some loan features as did the 1956 version.

The Albany Weather Bureau forecast a warmer Saturday in the eastern half of the state and continued cold for the western section. Snow flurries are expected generally in that area, the bureau said.

Schools in Session
Kingston city schools were recessed at 1 p. m. yesterday by Superintendent Earl F. Soper because of the storm. Regular sessions were being held today. Snow ploughing and removal by both the county highway department and Department of Public Works in the city were progressing according to schedule, it was reported.

Employees Cooperative
Max Oppenheimer, assistant superintendent of the Board of Public Works, said there were "only a few refusals" by department employees to work in "over-time" snow plowing and removal. He said the men overall "were very cooperative" and there was no reduction in manpower.

Employees of the department recently asked the Common Council to consider a bid for a total of $450 more since they are now listed for $150 in the 1957 budget submitted by Mayor Frederick H. Stang.

At a Wednesday meeting of the council, action on the budget was deferred until Jan. 16. Four deaths were listed in the state due to the storm. The Associated Press reported: Brian Francobandiero, 6, of Walden, was injured fatally when his sled was in collision with a car.

Rudolph Hudecek, 65, of Buffalo, collapsed and died while shoveling snow at his home, and Mrs. Lucy House, 66, of North Syracuse, suffered a fatal heart attack in front of her garage.

Walter Kubera, 51, of Dun Kirk, died of a heart attack after putting chains on his car.

4 Minor Mishaps
Four minor accidents were reported in Ulster county by state police and the sheriff's office, and a driver involved in one of them was arrested, but no personal injuries were listed as a result of any of the mishaps.
Dorey Trowbridge, 68, of Stone Ridge, was arrested by Ellenville state police on a charge of failure to keep right.
The summons is returnable before Justice of the Peace Abram D. Smith, town of Rochester, at a later date.

Trowbridge was arrested on Route 209 at Accord after his 1952 sedan was in collision with a 1956 sedan, owned by the New York City Board of Water Supply, and operated by Charles Garlinghouse, 33, of 21 Washington avenue, Ellenville.

Troopers said Trowbridge was headed north, crossed over into the southbound lane and struck the Board of Water Supply car in the left front fender.

Guy wires attached to the pole fell on the highway as a result of the mishap, and a 1952 sedan, owned by the McDole Construction Co., operated by Ellsworth McDole, 47, of Wayarsing, applied his brakes but skidded into the guy wires. No injuries were reported.

Truck, Car Collide
The sheriff's office reported at 7:55 a. m., Thursday, that a truck, owned by the Shell Oil Co., and operated by Frank Berean, no age given, of Highland, was in collision with a 1955 sedan, operated by Harry J. Mitchell, 39, of Rifton, on Route 299, town of Lloyd.

The report said the Mitchell car skidded into the Shell truck. The car was extensively damaged in the right front fender area, the report added, while the truck sustained a broken bumper bracket and stop light lens.

There were no injuries reported.

Murder of Girl Remains Mystery

Rochester, N. Y., Jan. 11 (AP)—The identity of the killer of pretty Katherine Kramer was still a mystery today.

Police checked out at least four leads, after lie detector tests cleared a man who said he had seen her the night she was shot near the University of Rochester.

John J. Steve, 34, of suburban Perinton, voluntarily took lie detector tests here and in Buffalo last night. Police said he "ran a good test."

Miss Kramer, a 23-year-old attractive and popular secretary at the University of Rochester Medical School, was found Monday night on a sidewalk near the campus. She had been shot in the back with a .22 caliber bullet.

Why We Say--
"LITTLE SCAMP"
A small boy who gets into trouble might be referred to as a "little scamp." The scamp though actually means one who is out of the battlefield or not eligible to be in the army. The word came into English through the Old French, "enscamper," and from the Latin ex (out of) and campus (the battlefield). Technically anyone who wasn't a soldier was a scamp.

NO COLONIAL DESIGNS

The program President Eisenhower presented to Congress plainly is not designed to enable the United States and the free world to meet the whole broad range of problems now besetting the Middle East.

It contains no proposal for action in event of a resumption of the conflict between Israel and the Arab states. It does not suggest that we shall intervene in Middle Eastern states when the complaint is not foreign military aggression but political and economic penetration. It does not deal with ultimate solutions of the Suez Canal dilemma.

Indirectly it hits at Russian political and economic warfare by offering economic assistance of an order which could conceivably reduce the vulnerability of the Middle East to such tactics. In other words, stronger healthier nations are likely to be less susceptible to Moscow's siren song.

But, basically, the President's program is a plan of military action to meet any possible Communist military threat to the Middle East.

Some say this threat never has been serious. The administration takes the view that it has been and is. There does seem good sense in resolving doubt on the side of caution. History has shown—as recently as Korea—that aggressions sometimes are undertaken in the mistaken notion that major powers will not act to counter the moves.

If the President's plan is adopted, we will have given Russia firm notice in one more region of the world that we are prepared to stand against its aggression with armed force. This would be bound to help dispel whatever lingering thoughts may exist in Kremlin minds over military gestures toward the Middle East.

The most important aspect of the program is our expressed determination not to intervene, however, unless requested to do so by a victimized nation. This is not a plan for imperialist domination. It is a proposal to help assure the independence of countries which wish to remain free.

Our purpose then is not to "move into the vacuum" created by the decline of British and French power, but rather to help Middle Eastern nations build and hold the strength to fill the vacuum themselves.

The program is bound to be assailed as "imperialist" by Middle Eastern elements and Communist lands which have most to gain by misrepresenting America and the West. It is notable that Egypt and Syria, already most markedly under Soviet influence, have been loudest in protest.

We must hope that in time most Arab peoples will understand the program for what it is.

As Congress weighs the plan, the lawmakers, too, must keep in mind not only what the program is, but what it is not. It deserves to be judged within its clearly marked limits—and to be set against any reasonable alternative programs Congress may devise.

OVER THE POLE

Not a great many years have passed since men were risking their lives traveling afoot and by dog sled in competition for the honor of being first to reach the North Pole. Some perished, some returned safely but with their cherished goal unattained. An expedition headed by Adm. Robert E. Peary finally made it in 1909.

Now airplanes make travel to this fabulous geographical location easy and rather comfortable. Soon anyone with the necessary money will be able safely and snugly to make the trip over the area where dauntless explorers struggled.

The Scandinavian Airways System plans to establish a new aerial route over the North Pole in February. It will reach across the 7,800 miles between Copenhagen and Tokyo and cut the present 50 hours' Europe-to-Japan flying time to about 30. The flights will make Admiral Peary's tortuous progress seem puny by comparison, yet they will not make him any less a hero.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
THE PROBLEM OF WAR

Since 1912, the world has been disturbed by threats of war, wars, revolutions, counter-revolutions and the social and economic concomitants of such upheavals. The present course of events started with the emergence of Germany as an imperial and commercial power of prime magnitude, reducing the position of France after the Franco-Prussian War in 1870 and challenging the naval power of Great Britain at the turn of the century.

Bismarck, who had created modern Germany, had opposed colonialism for Germany, recognizing in Germany's neighbors, Poland, Russia, the Austro-Hungarian Empire, the Balkans ample opportunities for markets for the products of the developing German industries. On the other hand, as Kaiser Wilhelm came to power, he sought to turn Germany into a great naval power and into the dominant commercial power of the world. Having defeated France by military power, Germany now sought to replace Great Britain on the seas and in the commercial ports of the world.

Eventually this policy produced World War 1 which is really not yet over. In fact, in one form or another, the world has been at some kind of war for more than 40 years.

Throughout this long period efforts have been made to find a way to peace, for the settlement of international disputes without recourse to war. The three most significant efforts in this direction were the League of Nations, the Kellogg-Briand Pact and the United Nations. None of these methods or organs has produced peace, impeding the preparation for war or lessened the force of imperialism. Although Germany was defeated, Soviet Russia succeeded in establishing a new and larger and more significant empire than the Kaiser had conceived or Hitler had achieved.

One of the major problems of the later decades of the Nineteenth Century was the intensification of nationalism, particularly following the revolutions of 1848. One result of this was the weakening of the Austro-Hungarian and the Turkish Empires, producing a larger number of new nations in the Balkans and in the Middle East. Students of politics often feared the consequences of this trend as increasing the number of nations, increasing trade barriers and accentuating dislikes and prejudices among peoples. There are now 80 member states of the United Nations and this does not include all the countries on Earth.

Professor Carl Gustav Heyes, describing what in the Nineteenth Century was regarded as national liberalism, wrote:
"The kind which postulated an atomized Europe of self-conscious nationalities, each one, whether large or small, romantically prizing its distinctive language and historic traditions, peacefully attaining to political independence and constitutional government, and, of course, not denying to others the right of national self-determination." It claimed for itself.

But this type of liberalism produced war. Divested of romantic trappings of altruism and cosmopolitanism, it was rendered nakedly "realist" and unblinkingly self-centered. No longer modest or pacific, it grew blatant and bellicose; and with pride of success substituted for mere aspiration, it took on an imperialistic complexion. For a nation which by force of arms had demonstrated its superiority to survive must be superior to others, and entitled, in so far as it could, to dominate them. This type of nationalism was obviously not liberal.

The Bolsheviks who, as Marxists, despised nationalism and patriotism, have become intensely nationalistic, not only in Soviet Russia but in each of the satellite countries. And within Soviet Russia, the government and party have tried to extirpate all evidences of minority differences even as Czarist Russia tried to do in the same area and to the same peoples.

Today, Arab nationalism is asserting itself more effectively than it ever has in Islam's history and it has, during the past year, given evidence of greater potency than ever before, but it is not realistic because just as Pan-Slavism could never bind all the Slavic peoples into a unity, so there is no evidence that Pan-Arabism or Pan-Islam can bind Iraq (Babylonia) to Egypt or Saudi Arabia to Lebanon. There is plenty of history behind these differences.

Realistically it needs to be faced that no method has yet been discovered by the human mind to overcome the tendency of nations to use war as an extension of diplomacy, to pit strength against intelligence, and killing against morality. That is where we stand in 1957.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.
AN EXERCISE PROGRAM

Life's greatest asset is good health; its greatest liability is poor health. You have been given a body that has strong parts and, perhaps, weak parts. Because certain parts are strong, you take chances with them and something may happen. On the other hand, the fact that certain parts are weak, and you know they are weak, makes you careful—you take no chances with them and they carry you along "safely."

The purpose of a periodic health examination is to find just how well or strong are all your parts. A check-up once or twice a year by your family physician and a dentist will give you a knowledge of your body's assets and liabilities. You will learn about your heart, whether it is pumping with enough strength to push the blood to all parts of the body, and all the other systems of the body.

Primitive man had little choice in the matter of exercise. If he wished to survive he had to engage in many forms of activity. Today it is different. One must plan to allow time for healthful exercise and this exercise must be adapted to one's age and present physical condition. When a person has done little or no systematic exercising, he must naturally go easy at first, for perhaps three or four weeks. Especially after a person reaches 25 or 30 years of age, exercising must be gradual, because the muscles and arteries lose some of their elasticity and are unable to withstand the strain of sudden or prolonged vigorous activity. Regularity of exercise, however, is the important factor, along with this gradual increase in difficulty.

Adapting the type and amount of exercise to the individual must be stressed. The busy person who can give only a little time each day to physical exercise might do well to select an exercise for each part of the body. For posture, for strengthening the abdomen; for arms, shoulders and legs; and for raising the chest and strengthening the muscles of the upper back.

Such a routine might include exercises from the lying-on-the-back position such as rolling, sit-ups, raising the knees, or the exercise in which the toe touches the opposite extended arm. From the prone position (lying face down), such exercises as hip-raising (jackknifing the body up and down) or chin-up (lifting the head) would be helpful. He might also try sitting with the legs straight and bending trunk forward, sitting with hands behind his head and twisting his trunk, or squatting and imitating a jumping jack.

The general rule "remember your age" must be adopted, because men and women under thirty may exercise with more speed and endurance than those over thirty. After thirty, one should work for endurance and not for speed. Just as "an apple a day keeps the doctor away," so a little regular and systematic exercise each day will help the individual to meet daily tasks with a better body and a more alert mind.

Time to Pull the Rug Out

Washington News

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA) — Drafts for 26 proposed new laws to improve the U. S. transportation system will be sent to Congress this year. They will be presented by the Interstate Commerce Commission under its 1957 chairman, Owen Clarke of Yakima, Wash., an Eisenhower appointee. This is the first time such a package deal has ever been presented.

Heretofore the ICC has sent general recommendations to Congress in its annual report. But the nature of these proposals has always been so technical and so complicated that the actual drafting of legislation to carry them out has been lost in congressional committees. And nothing much ever happened. It is to overcome this difficulty that the ICC in 1956, under Chairman Anthony F. Arpaia, decided to make it easier for Congress by sending up actual drafts on what the Commission thinks should be done. Over 50 drafts were considered before the list was boiled down to the final 26. Interstate Commerce Committees of Senate and House can begin hearings on these bills and thus save much legislative time.

DETAILS ON THE new transportation legislative program are being withheld till the ICC report goes to Congress. But it is known that the program will cover every phase of surface transportation—rail, truck, bus, water and freight forwarding. In one sense the new ICC legislative program will be an answer to the 1955 recommendations of President Eisenhower's cabinet-level Advisory Committee on Transportation, which tried to write a new national transportation policy.

The report of this committee, headed by Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks, would have relaxed all government controls over transportation. It would have limited ICC's rate-making powers and would have limited the Commission to setting maximum and minimum rates only. This would have allowed highway, rail and water transportation companies to compete for traffic on dog-eat-dog basis.

The Weeks report was given approval by the railroads. But it was condemned by airline, water and highway carriers who feared railroad rate-cutting and cutthroat competition.

INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION went along with about half of the report. The 84th Congress did nothing about it at all. The report today is considered pretty much of a dead duck.

President Eisenhower may plug for enactment of some of the Cabinet committee recommendations in one of his messages to Congress. But not even the railroads are showing any enthusiasm for getting the whole transportation policy package enacted. It is considered too sweeping a program to adopt all at one time.

The railroads are, however, pushing for two pieces of legislation in particular during the 85th Congress.

For one thing, the railroads and all forms of transport want the present 10 to 30 per cent taxes on passenger and freight traffic repealed. They have a National Conference for the Repeal of Taxes on Transportation lobbying for it. This conference is headed by Don Ward, vice chairman of Olin-Mathieson Chemical. Its membership includes nearly 300 organizations of shippers and carriers.

THE SECOND MAJOR railroad legislative project is a carryover from last Congress. It is a proposal to eliminate the present requirement that Interstate Commerce Commission take into consideration the effects of rate changes for one form of transportation on the traffic, profits and revenues of a competing form of transportation.

ICC granted the railroads an emergency seven per cent increase in eastern freight rates and five per cent in the West, effective Dec. 28. A petition for a seven per cent increase in southern freight rates is pending.

ICC is also investigating whether additional freight rate increases should be granted to give the railroads a fair return on their investment. That return was 3.95 per cent in 1956 and 4.2 per cent in 1955.

Six eastern roads have asked ICC for a 45 per cent increase in first-class passenger fares and a five per cent increase on coach fares. The ICC has approved a five per cent increase in coach fares on all western and eight eastern railroads, plus a nationwide seven per cent increase in Pullman fares.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Chicago, Jan. 10—Spelvin is my name, glad to make your acquaintance, going to the convention? Looks like the biggest affair of the kind in the history of the furniture game. Well, with all due modesty I think we can safely lay claim to the fair lion's share of the credit for keeping this industry's product merchandisable. It is hard to break down old ingrained habits among the public, but we came up with the slogan, throw out the old bring in the new.

Pryor saw me sitting there. I am not the eager-beaver type, but we had just made up our mind, my wife and I did, we said heck, after all, we don't like that darn old couch or that chair, just because they came in the original sort when we furnished our first modest little apartment, and the rug always clashed with just about every darn thing you could bring in, it even clashed with itself. So she said well I am almost afraid to say it, but why don't we just leave it all out, the whole outfit, and start fresh? And next year the same with our bedroom then Mary's, that is our little girl, named for my wife, then George's, named for me, and by the time we get through maybe we will move to another neighborhood. Confidentially, it is getting kind of tacky where we are, out near Bellaire Knolls, when industries move into a residential zone they are bound to introduce certain undesirable factors.

Mind you I am not any snob, my people are just plain, old-fashioned homespun American stock, but factory-class people have their own conduct-patterns. I am not criticizing them, you understand, they pay their taxes and do their bit in the wars, but we always had an ambition to move farther out and I hope I can someday have a little 30-footer with a little garage and a couple of bunks.

Well, Pryor said, Spelvin, there seems to be something on your mind. Don't sit back there like a bump on a log, what's on your mind? I said well, chief, we usually call him chief, except the old hand, they call him T. K., I said, well chief, the worst habitation that is stifling the sales-potential of this game today is sentiment, but you can't attack sentiment head-on. It would be like attacking motherhood. But we have got an idea, standby, potential which can keep wheels turning, chimneys smoking and money flowing almost forever if we can only convince people to break with the sentiment habitation, throw out one room each year and replace with absolutely brand new—new lines, new fabrics, daring, novel innovations in theory and substance and smash through the habitus barrier.

Well, the old man jumped up like he was shot, by jimminy ginger, he said, that is the worst cuss term he ever uses, he promised his mother way back in Iowa, and he never works on Sundays, either, another promise, you have to respect guys with that kind of stickto-itiveness determination. He said, men allow me to present you to our newest vice-president, welcome to our magic circle, Mr. Six. Then he turned to Dick Wallace, he is the vice-president in charge of vice-presidents and he said Dick write me up a directive on that. Dick said Roger and over.

So I made sixth veep in the snap of a finger just for an idea self and wife had in a casual discussion, we did not even have time to activate it yet, but out of our togetherness, here comes an idea why Mr. Pryor says you can apply it to everything, furniture, houses, railroad cars.

Why do you suppose we are flying to Chicago for the convention by plane? Well, sure, speed is one factor, but the railroads didn't keep their product merchandisable, their operational potential was miles beyond the practical merchandisable so the time we just stand-by for the airlines in this day and age. Speed-wise they can't compete. This is the new world of the

Unions, Business Are Urged To Heed Plea of Eisenhower

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Jan. 11—Is an economic collapse coming in America? Is it a matter of a few months or a year or two? Are there already some signs of the crisis?

These questions are asked because of the very pointed statements made in the state-of-the-union message to Congress by President Eisenhower concerning the effects of the wage-price spiral now moving slowly but surely toward some kind of economic climax.

Buyers of all kinds of goods have been worried about the absence of any brakes on wages and prices. The two big economic forces—management and labor—have had the field all to themselves and no restraints have been applied by government.

Plea for Self-Restraint

Hence, President Eisenhower has made an appeal for self-restraint. He uses the word "discipline" and means, of course, self-discipline. For the government is not prepared as yet to apply any restrictive measures against the organized greed that is gradually depreciating the purchasing power of the American dollar.

In many respects, Mr. Eisenhower's message on this phase of the economic outlook is the most important and the strongest that has been delivered since the depression days of the 1930's, when appeals were constantly made for voluntary action to help stabilize the economy. The President sees a peril in terms also of the national defense. He says that "any program that endangers the economy could defeat us." But the passage that needs to be read over and over again by the American people and especially by the managers of business and labor unions is as follows:

"The national interest must take precedence over temporary advantages which may be secured by particular groups at the expense of all the people."

Owe Vigilant Guard

"In this regard I urge leaders in business and in labor to think well on their responsibility to all the American people. With all elements of our society, they owe the nation a vigilant guard against the inflationary tendencies that are always at work in a dynamic economy operating at today's high levels. They can powerfully help counteract or accentuate such tendencies by their wage and price policies.

"Business in its pricing policies should avoid unnecessary price increases especially at a time like the present when demand in so many areas presses hard on short supplies. Of course, a reasonable profit is essential to the new investments that provide more jobs in an expanding economy. But business leaders must, in the national interest, studiously avoid those price rises that are possible only because of vital or unusual needs of the whole nation.

Some Beneficial

"If our economy is to remain healthy, increases in wages and other labor benefits negotiated by labor and management must be reasonably related to improvements in productivity. Such increases are beneficial, for they provide wage earners with greater purchasing power. Except where necessary to correct obvious injustices, wage increases that outrun productivity, however, are an inflationary factor. They make for higher prices for the public generally and impose a particular hardship not only on the active workman but on those whose welfare depends on the purchasing power of retirement income and savings. Wage negotiations should also take cognizance of the right of the public generally to share in the benefits of improvements in technology.

"Freedom has been defined as the opportunity for self-discipline. This definition has a special application to the areas of wage and price policy in a free economy. Should we persistently fail to discipline ourselves, eventually there will be increasing pressure on government to redress the failure. By that process freedom will step by step disappear. No subject on the domestic scene should more attract the concern of the friends of American working men and women and of free business enterprise than the forces, latent and active, that threaten a steady depreciation of the value of our money."

This is the first time in a long while that an American President so pointedly has called on management and labor to consider the importance of the entire national economy—the public interest—above their own group interests. It is an appeal to the good sense as well as self-interest of those who today wield tremendous power in the economic arena. If the appeal isn't heeded, and an emergency develops, restriction by government order on prices as well as on wages will become inevitable. This means controls such as America in wartime and Britain, even since the war, have had to impose to avert national disaster. (Reproduction Rights Reserved) new generation and we are about to activate projects to great well the horizon has been pushed back so far you take the new methods of executive echeloning, for instance. Why 25 years ago who ever thought we would come to a time when a concern like the Pryor products line would streamline the functional patterns of the board of chairman of the joint board of chairmen? That is the summit job in our outfit, it pays him $100,000 a year extra but in deferred compensation for his grandchildren otherwise the income tax would grab it all. Tax-wise and incentive-wise it is positively amazing.

Well, that looks like Gary down there. By George, that is a great operation, but look at Ebenezer, there is another Ebenezer generation. And this airline is one of the greatest functional operations in a whole world of activated projects and it is hard to realize they were once only patterns on the drawing board waiting for initiative to batter down habituation.

Well, it has been a pleasure to make your acquaintance and get your vision-patterns. So long, keep the merchandisability factor rolling. See you at the Hilton.

World News in Brief

To Shuffle Cabinet

London, Jan. 11 (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan consulted with a steady stream of Conservative lawmakers at No. 10 Downing street today on plans for a broad reshuffle of his cabinet.

His predecessor, Sir Anthony Eden, removed himself from the main arena of British politics. He announced with "real sorrow" his resignation from the House of Commons, saying he did not have the health now to carry on. Following tradition, Queen Elizabeth II offered Eden an earldom and with it a seat in the House of Lords.

Would Ban Weapons

Bonn, Germany, Jan. 11 (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer today suggested a world-girdling agreement to ban thermonuclear weapons. Adenauer aired his proposal at a crowded news conference in which he said:

"Thermonuclear weapons no longer can be considered as a means of waging war."

He firmly declared a "definitive solution" of outstanding world problems can be attained only through complete abolition of these weapons. The 81-year-old chancellor did not spell out how he thought this could be achieved or whether he felt some system of controls would be essential.

Dag Reports Progress

United Nations, N. Y., Jan. 11 (AP)—Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld said today he expected to have sufficient funds pledged by the end of January to finance the initial stages of the Suez Canal clearance operations.

He also indicated in a progress report to the 80-nation General Assembly that things were going well otherwise in the task of getting the vital waterway back into operation.

State . . .

posed junior-senior high school by 1958 at which time it would withdraw some 200 students from Kingston schools.

It also took note of a letter from the Jewish Community Center expressing appreciation for permission to use certain equipment at the George Washington School and a letter from the State Education Department congratulating the local board on the number of articles on home teaching which had appeared recently in The Freeman.

The board accepted with regret the resignations of Mrs. Elizabeth M. Rose, a dental hygienist, Miss Ellen Brophy, grade 6 teacher at George Washington School, and Mrs. Jean Dempsey.

Appointments Approved

It approved the appointments of Mrs. Joanna Dudek as a teacher of vocal music at $3,700 a year, Ernest Coons as a teacher of secondary math at $4,200 and Mrs. Charlotte Hunt as a teacher in home economics at the Washington School.

Attendance at the following conferences was approved:

1. Warren Russell, Audio-Visual Instruction (NEA) Regional Leadership Conference, Albany, January 18-19.

2. Coach Willard Burke, National Football Clinic, Atlantic City, N. J., March 11-13.

3. A request of Dr. Irving Josephson, school physician, for two nurses to attend the New York State Association Health, Physical Education and Recreation Conference, Syracuse, January 24.

The board received the regular budget statement and treasurer's report from Robert O'Reilly, chairman of the finance committee, and voted on his recommendation to invest in short-term treasury notes.

The resignation of Richard H. Osterhoudt as custodian of School 7 was accepted with regret.

No Action on Parking

The board discussed a communication from Alderman Richard V. Roth requesting permission to use the grounds of School 7 as a parking area on Friday nights and Saturdays. No action was taken but discussion indicated that the grounds now have only a light blacktop which would probably break up with heavy use. In order to use the area it would have to be re-laid with heavy blacktop which would cost several thousand dollars.

The matter of keeping such blacktop clean was discussed, some pointing out that cars would bring in mud and dirt and there would doubtless be oil leakages from some automobiles which would not provide the children with the cleanest possible playground. Members of the board also pointed out the possibility of damage to basketball stanchions, etc.

Other Matters

A bid of $55 by Lipton Bee Line for transportation of Coralie Orr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Orr, 333 Main street, on trip daily to George Washington School was approved by the board.

Dr. Josephson reported in a letter to the board that of 5,384 elementary pupils, all but 959 had received physical examinations. Of 2,060 high school students, all but 1,254 have been examined.

Mrs. Vincent Connelly, chairman of the auditorium committee, reported that she had not received a single request for use of school auditoriums—which is deemed quite unusual. "I never remember it during the winter months," she said. "I haven't one request!"

Financial and Commercial

New York, Jan. 11 (AP)—The stock market clung narrowly to the upside early this afternoon in fairly active trading.

Leading issues gained from fractions to around a point. There was a scattering of losers. After an active opening the pace slowed but there were subsequent spurts of activity, making turnover about the same as yesterday.

Industrials continued ahead at about the same degree as rails. Steels, some chemicals and metals made small gains.

Sugars resumed their advance as the commodity rose in world markets.

On the American Stock Exchange prices advanced in heavy trading.

Corporate bonds improved in quiet trading. U. S. Government Bonds continued to rise in over the counter dealings.

Temperature Is 5 Above At City Hall

Today was the coldest, to date, this year with a temperature of five degrees above zero at 6:30 a. m. on the official city hall thermometer.

It followed yesterday's five-inch fall of snow after which the mercury started on a gradual decline, but it was far from a record for the date. Many sub-zero temperatures have been recorded for the date in past years.

Unofficial reports indicated that the mercury was nearer zero, and possibly a bit below in other areas of the county, but in the Asokan reservoir area an overnight low of only 14 degrees above zero was recorded.

The city engineer's office today reported a total snowfall of 18 1/2 inches, to date, in the fall-winter period.

Yesterday's fall of five inches of snow equalled that of Dec. 14.

Opposition . . .

ers yesterday that Americans must not "delude ourselves that safety necessarily increases as expenditures for military research or forces in being go up."

Russell said he wants to see details of the military and foreign aid budgets due next week before he decides what course to pursue. But he added:

Doubtful About Friends

"I agree with all the President said about fighting inflation but it is no more inflationary to spend money on building up our own military strength than it is to spend it on building up the military forces of other nations, some of which are of doubtful friendliness to us."

Sen. Jackson (D-Wash.) said Eisenhower apparently has invited a "renewal of the conflict" with senators who have demanded a faster buildup of U. S. armed might.

Chairman Walter (D-Pa.) of the House Immigration Subcommittee announced opposition to Eisenhower's proposal that Congress promptly "regularize" the status of Hungarian refugees admitted to this country. He said he favors a delay until it is determined whether there are any Communists among them.

Kefauver Has Say

Sen. Kefauver of Tennessee, the 1956 Democratic vice presidential nominee, said Eisenhower's message sounded like "the preamble to a New Deal document" but failed to provide answers to many problems.

He said Eisenhower had passed "the burden to the Democratic Congress to develop programs," particularly with respect to small business, the family sized farmer and power policies.

Eisenhower told Congress he and his top officials would be sending along messages on specific programs later.

10 Deaths Feared

Buenos Aires, Argentina, Jan. 11 (AP)—A two-engine passenger plane crashed and burned just after taking off from Buenos Aires Airport today. Unofficial reports from the scene said 10 to 12 persons had perished and that at least 13 were injured. The plane, heading for the seaside resort of Mar Del Plata, rammed into the sea wall along Riverside avenue as the pilot apparently was struggling to sit down on the River Plate.

India has the most irrigated land of any nation in the world.

Stang Will Cut

special display from the New York Thruway Authority.

Other special displays will include the showing of automobiles rebuilt by members of the Igniters.

Automobiles and exhibits will be moved into the armory on Tuesday under the direction of Monroe T. Southard, show manager. Attractive decorations, with topaz and charcoal as the predominating colors, have been provided by the Trahan Company.

Hours during which the show will be open to the public are 7 to 10:30 p. m. on Wednesday and Thursday, January 16 and 17; and from 2 to 10:30 p. m. on Friday and Saturday, January 18 and 19.

Chest Gets Profits

The dealers association will donate net profits of the undertaking to the Kingston Area Community Chest, Inc., which serves as fund raising agent for eight separate agencies in the Kingston area.

The completely dealer-sponsored, "all under one roof" type of show was revived in Kingston in April of last year after a lapse of a quarter-century.

Advance sale of admission tickets has been undertaken this year by the dealers, and early returns indicate a much larger attendance than last year, when admissions were sold only at the door.

Show Price Reduced

Dealers believe this year's show will benefit, too, from the fact that collectively the 1957 cars exhibit greater advances over the previous year's models than in any one year before; the show is earlier this year, closer to the time of the unveiling of the new models, and the admission price has been lowered.

A new 1957 automobile will be given away at the last night of the show, although those attending any of the four nights will have equal opportunity of winning it. The winner will have his choice of Chevrolet, Ford, Plymouth, Rambler, Studebaker or Willys Jeep.

U. S. Files Action To Enforce Liens Against Railroad

New York, Jan. 11 (AP)—The government has filed a Federal Court action seeking the enforcement of its liens for $7,500,000 in withholding taxes and other claims against the bankrupt New York, Ontario and Western Railway Co.

In the complaint filed yesterday by Asst. U. S. Atty. Thomas B. Gilchrist, the government claimed that the railroad and its subsidiaries "failed, neglected and refused" to pay the taxes, penalties and interest.

The government also sought appointment of a receiver.

The action further contends that additional taxes continue to accrue at the rate of approximately $80,000 a month and that unpaid taxes date back to 1945.

The government, in asking for appointment of a receiver, said in part:

"The continued operation of the railroad system is important to the community it serves. To enable the continued operation of the railroad system and the protection and maintenance of the property of the defendant pending a judicial determination of the merits of all claims to the liens upon said property... the U.S.A. believes it is in the public interest that a receiver be appointed with all the power of a receiver in equity.

The line currently carries freight from Weehawken, N. J., to Oswego, N. Y.

In further action yesterday, Federal Judge Edward A. Conger adjourned until Feb. 21 a hearing on a motion by the railroad's trustee to sell the property.

New Refuse Spot Needed for City

A special meeting of the Kingston Common Council is scheduled Saturday at 2 p. m.

In announcing it today, Mayor Frederick H. Stang said the call of the meeting was to consider a new location for dumping refuse. The land reclamation spot in the North street area is running out of space, the mayor advised.

HIGHLAND NEWS

Highland, Jan. 10—The WSCS met Wednesday night in the Methodist Church parlors with Mrs. W. H. Maynard presiding and the hostesses were Mrs. Jacob Schuhle, Mrs. Gordon Wilcox, Mrs. Jack McEnroe, Mrs. William Cosman, Mrs. Victor DeMare.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Slater, Claryville, with Mrs. Hubert Elting left Wednesday for Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., for the balance of the winter.

Miss Elizabeth Wadlin and her cousin, Fred Maynard left Saturday to resume their studies at Syracuse University.

Mr. and Mrs. Meredith Turner, West Springfield, Mass., former residents, were in town Thursday.

Dr. and Mrs. Carl F. Meekins and son Robert returned Tuesday after a three weeks trip to Long Beach, Calif. There they attended the wedding of their son, Dr. John A. Meekin to Miss Jacqueline Pra which took place Dec. 29. Dr. Meekin and Robert Meekin also attended the Rose Bowl football game.

Mrs. Carolyn Patterson, a member of PEO in her home state of Kansas, was a guest of Chapter A at its meeting Thursday at the home of Mrs. W. H. Maynard. Mrs. Meredith Turner also attended from West Springfield, Mass. There were 23 members present.

A combined Christmas and New Year's party was held by the UD Society Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Philip Wilklow. Weather conditions had prevented the party being held on a previous date. The rooms with their holiday decorations made a pretty setting for the exchange of gifts in a novel fashion. Mrs. C. I. Richards gave a report of two afghans given to patients at Golden Hill and for the gifts sent to patients at the infirmary at New Paltz. She had ordered more yarn. Mrs. G. F. DuBois reported on the sunshine cards sent. Mrs. Fred Wilklow, the incoming president, and her staff, Mrs. Harry Thompson, Mrs. Franklin Welker, Mrs. Charles Whittaker, vice presidents; Mrs. W. B. Taber, treasurer; Miss Belle Brinckerhoff, and Mrs. Philip Wilklow, secretaries; Mrs. Alfred Lane and Mrs. Nathan Williams, sunshine, will preside for next year. At the tea table Mrs. Fred Wilklow and outgoing president, Miss Eliza Raymond poured. The birthday of Mrs. Hubert Elting was featured by a cake and candles.

Present were Mrs. S. D. Farnham, Mrs. Abram Rhodes, Mrs. Richards, Mrs. Hubert Elting, Mrs. Thomas Sears, Mrs. DuBois, Mrs. Lane, Mrs. Joseph Mellor, Mrs. Taber, Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Welker, Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Rose Seaman, Mrs. Ruth Smalley, Mrs. Fred Wilklow, the Misses Rowena Harcourt, Lillian Johnston, Belle Brinckerhoff, Eliza Raymond. The meeting January 19 will be with Mrs. J. H. Alexander.

Master of Highland Grange, Albert Schrieber and Mrs. Schrieber leave Saturday for Boynton Beach, Fla. to spend the next three months.

The mid-winter meeting of North River Presbytery meets Tuesday, Jan. 15, in the Presbyterian Church. The Rev. Merle S. Irwin, Poughkeepsie, is moderator. The Rev. Rupert Stanley, Marlborough, stated clerk. The women of the church served dinner.

A farewell party for Mrs. Henry Werner was held Friday night in the Presbyterian Church hall with women of the church as hostesses. The event was a surprise for Mrs. Werner when she was greeted by more than 25 friends and workers in the Women's Organization and Sunday school. A decorated table with red roses and ribbons arranged by Mrs. Walter Clark, a doll house made by Russell Carpenter contained a gift of money presented to the honored guest. Mrs. Werner has been active in church work since she made her home here for the past four years, coming from Germany at the close of the war. Games were played and refreshments served. Mrs. Werner and her husband leave January 19 for Lexington, Ky., to make their home. Mr. Werner is associated with IBM.

Dr. and Mrs. Peter Lordi have announced the engagement of their daughter, Rosemary Ann, to Patrick W. Emery, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clark W. Emery. Miss Lordi is a graduate of the local high school and the Good Counsel College, White Plains and holds a position in the laboratory, Kingston. Mr. Emery is a graduate of Long Island Technical Institute, has served in the Army in Korea and is assistant buyer for IBM. No wedding date is set.

Adult Education At New Paltz Nears Final Week

Adult Education classes at New Paltz Central School will enter its final week January 14. The following week is reserved for make-up classes and the second semester begins Monday, Jan. 28.

Frederick C. Dippel, director of Adult Education has announced that there will be several new classes beginning the second semester as well as a continuation of most of the popular classes.

Plan Photography Class

Mrs. DeWitt will again conduct her usual class in photography. This has always been very popular and this year new cameras, new film, and new equipment will make the classes more exciting, he said. Highlights of the course will include "Composition" illustrated with color slides. Learn to travel with your camera with the lecture, "A Travelogue in Color" and the "Color Clinic" where participants will learn to improve on color slides. "Making Pictures People Like" will be of interest to everyone at the first lecture Monday, Jan. 28 at 7 p. m. in Room 32.

An addition to the program this semester will be a class in Rug Hooking. We are fortunate to have been able to secure the services of Mrs. Bonestell of Kingston who is an expert in this interesting craft. Mr. Dippel said. Mrs. Bonestell is conducting very popular classes at present in Kingston and Saugerties. You need not know anything about rug hooking to join the class since the 10 lessons will cover all you need to learn and give you an opportunity to hook a rug you can be proud of. This class will meet on Tuesday at 7 p. m., he said.

Offer Driving Class

In addition to these new classes there will be a new group started in Driver Education and Beginning Typing on Monday evenings. Other classes which will carry over from the first semester and may be joined, are Creative Dance, Americanization, American Civilization, and Early American Decoration on Monday evenings; Drawing and Painting for Beginners and Hobby Shop Tuesday evenings; and Advanced Typing, World Affairs, Piano, and Sewing Wednesday evenings.

Civil Service

Offers Summer Training Jobs

"Work, Study, Earn" is the theme of the student trainee announcement issued today by eight boards of U. S. Civil Service Examiners located throughout New York State and New Jersey.

High School seniors who plan to attend college and present college students are offered summer employment in federal agencies at pay ranging from $56.93 a week to $65.68 a week. These student trainee positions lead to full professional status upon college graduation.

State Appointment Appointments will be made in the fields of chemistry, mathematics, metallurgy, physics, and nine branches of engineering. Student trainees will be assigned to summer work related to their college fields of study. In some instances they may be hired for part time work throughout the year.

No written test will be given to applicants now in college. High school seniors will take a written test but may advance to higher grades after appointment without further testing.

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

When company comes to dinner, Edith, aged 14, and Sissy, 11, wash and dry the dishes. Later their mother puts them away.

One evening after a company dinner that included leg of lamb, Edith decided not to wash the roasting plan. Coldly greasy, it looked so disagreeable that she didn't want to touch it. So she left it on the stove, hoping her mother would not find it until she'd gone to bed—and then wash it herself.

But her mother found it before Edith went upstairs. Calling her, she asked, "What's this pan doing here unwashed?"

"I thought you might want to save what was left of the gravy in it," Edith said.

This answer was what psychologists call "rationalizing"—the attempt to make ourselves acceptable to the other fellow by denying what we are. It's purpose is evasion of criticism. By rejecting herself as a girl who dislikes nasty chores and appearing as one virtuously concerned only with her mother's wishes, Edith hoped to avert attack for the unwashed roasting pan.

She didn't succeed. As usual, her mother was irritated by her evasiveness and snapped, "Don't give me that! You just didn't want to wash it!"

Irritation with the "rationalizing" child's evasiveness does not help him outgrow it. All it does is suggest that we are his moral superior—and force him to insist on his false virtuousness more aggressively than ever.

If we want to teach him how to give us the less pleasant truths about himself, there's only one way to do it—give him the less pleasant ones about us.

As we prepare to wash that roasting pan ourselves, we say to Edith, "I don't blame you for not wanting to scour this pan. It's a horrid chore. I'd like to avoid it myself. The only difference between us is that I'm older than you. I've had longer to learn that it's silly to avoid what has to be done."

Children learn "rationalizing" from us. If our youngster goes in for it, we should be glad to know he's probably got the trick from us. Our resentment at him is our resentment against the moral values that have forced us to "rationalize," pretending we like nasty chores we dislike, that we always do everything right and have no more progress to make in this earthly experience.

It can be the best thing that ever happened to us when a child shows us the absurdity of our claim to faultlessness by claiming it himself.

Prefers Prison

Peoria, Ill. (AP)—John Edward Robbins had a choice—freedom or prison. He chose prison. Pleading guilty to a charge of transporting a stolen car across state lines, he was before Judge J. Leroy Adair who asked Robbins if he believed he could adhere to probation requirements. Robbins, of Marshalltown, Iowa, said he didn't think so. Judge Adair sentenced him to two years in prison.

St. John's Nfld. (AP)—Highway offenders here are faced with the prospect of being chased by policemen on tricycles. The three-wheel vehicles have more space for storing equipment and are parked more easily than the conventional two-wheeled motorbikes.

New Paltz Area Methodist Notes

The New Paltz Methodist Parish, composed of the New Paltz, Lloyd, and Plutarch Churches, are embarking upon a church attendance crusade which will run until Easter. Certain goals have been set. Members are being informed. Rather than numerical rewards of church attendance and growth in the quality of spirit are being stressed. Further preparation will be made at the official board meeting of the New Paltz Church to be held at the parsonage Monday, Jan. 14, at 8 p. m.

The Sunday services in these three churches are at 9, 11 and 2, in Lloyd, New Paltz and Plutarch, respectively, with an early morning worship service in the New Paltz church at 8:30.

Children receiving the Sacrament of Baptism recently in the New Paltz Methodist Parish were Sherry Lynn Rubino, daughter of the late Joseph Rubino and Helen Mae Rubino of Lloyd; and Robert Alan Swehla, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Swehla, of Accord. The Rev. Willett Porter, officiated.

A group of women meet each Thursday at 8 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Mahel A. Schneider, on the Plutarch road, for the Bible study class. This class is held under the auspices of the Methodist Church but is open to any one who has a genuine interest in becoming better acquainted with the scriptures and their relevancy for daily living. Mrs. Schneider is the teacher.

Plattekill

Plattekill, Jan. 9—A unique form of program has been planned by members of the Plattekill Grange, for Saturday night, Jan. 12, when a birthday celebration will be featured. The committee in charge is Mrs. James Wilkin, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Strieb, Mrs. Madeline Zuelle, Mrs. George E. Daley, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Everett.

Twelve tables will be arranged representing the 12 months of the year, and where Grange members will be seated, according to the month of their birthdays.

Brief programs of entertainment will be presented at each table, appropriate to the month, and awards will be made on table decorations.

In charge of the 12 tables are—January, Mrs. Ralph Griser Sr.; February, Mrs. George E. Daley; March, Mrs. Richard Strieb; April, Richard Strieb; May, Mrs. Madeline Zuelle; June, Mrs. Francis Harris; July, Mrs. John Klein; August, Mrs. Charles Everett; September, Mrs. Nathaniel Dawes; October, Mrs. James Wilkin; November, Mrs. Burton R. Ward; December, Mrs. Paul Gaffney and Mrs. Grace Cronk.

The regular meeting of the Plattekill unit of the Ulster County Home Demonstration Extension Service, will be held Tuesday, Jan. 15, at 8 p. m. at the Plattekill school. A cooking project will be demonstrated.

Mrs. Bernard Kopaskie entertained the members of the Public Health Nursing Committee of the Town of Plattekill at her home here Monday night.

Mrs. Eunice Murphy and family entertained dinner guests at their home on Tuesday.

'Bowery' Trail

The name Bowery in New York city dates back to Dutch colonial days. An Indian trail was known as Bowery Lane because it connected Peter Stuyvesant's farm (or "bouwerij") with New Amsterdam.

100 Women Join Saugerties Polio March of Mothers

More than 100 women of Saugerties, mostly members of the Auxiliary of Lamouree-Hackett Post 72, American Legion will join the mother's march on polio Wednesday, Jan. 30.

Plans for the annual March of Dimes campaign will be outlined at the regular meeting of the auxiliary to be held tonight at 8 o'clock at the Legion home on John street, Saugerties.

According to John W. Davis, town chairman the ladies will receive their collection canisters and credentials. There will be 62 campaigners assigned to the village and 45 to the township.

Areas outside the village to be covered are Glasco, West Saugerties, High Woods, Quarryville, Centerville, Veteran, Malden, Churchland, Katsbaan, Fish Creek, West Camp, Blue Mountain, Ashbury, Mt. Marion and Mt. Marion Park.

Mr. Davis, a member of The Freeman advertising staff, said the drive this year would try to beat the record contributions of over $2,800 received last year.

Other phases of the campaign include the distribution of store counter canisters which was accomplished early this week. Plans for the annual Blue Birds drive which was conducted last year by the Blue Birds under the direction of Miss Marion Newkirk will be announced.

Last federal troops were withdrawn from the South in 1877.

Happy Times

Brink Your Own Key for Retirement's Door

By BEULAH STOWE

Everyone who retires at 65 or sooner has similar problems and opportunities. But each man and woman brings a different key to the door of retirement.

The key is within you and the interests and potentialities you have accumulated over the years.

It is not enough to dream about fishing, loafing, and throwing the alarm clock out the window.

It takes aggressiveness rather than appeasement to retire happily. It takes a plan which will help you find your own key to the retirement door.

Your plan must begin with yourself, with your hobbies and interests. Read. Study subjects of especial interest to you. Become a collector. Learn carpentry or explore handicraft projects. Try photography or painting.

The more you do the more you enrich yourself and develop yourself and your possible avenues toward added income, prestige and satisfaction when you retire.

With each new interest you cultivate, keep alert to its practical applications later on. If you become an expert on the many breeds of dogs, you can start a kennel. If you save recipes (and what woman doesn't?) you can develop a specialty that you may package and sell.

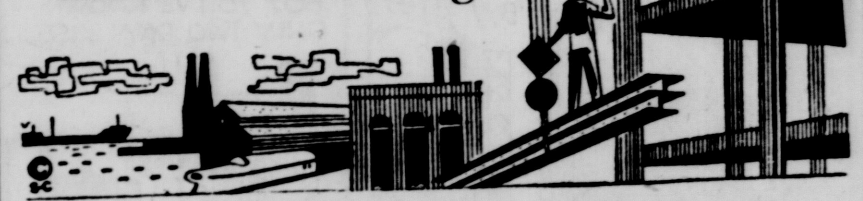

Pour everything you can find to pour into that hungry funnel that is yourself. Be calculating about your seeking for interests. It will take some time from the business life which dominates your today, but it will bring you to the door of retirement with the key in your hand.

Q—"What sort of gifts can I give my aunt, who lives in an old peoples' home?"—A.W.

A—Try a set of trays, which she can use for serving refreshments to guests. Gifts of food—cheese and crackers, canned meats, cookies and candy. A good-quality magnifying glass to use for reading, subscriptions to magazines and newspapers, a radio, a television set, a stock of two-cent post cards or a box of stationery with stamps on the envelopes.

What Was Columbus's Religion? All evidence indicates that Christopher Columbus was a Christian and that he lived and died a communicant of the Roman Catholic Church. Virtually nothing is known for certain about his early life. He himself appears to have been rather reticent on the subject. The conventional story, based on documents, traditions and conjectures is that he was born in Genoa, Italy, about 1451; that he was the son of a wool-comber named Domenico Colombo and his wife Suzanna Fortanarosa; and that in his youth he worked with his father at his trade in Genoa. Columbus's son Ferdinand wrote that his father studied astronomy, geometry and cosmography at the University of Pavia. Columbus himself said he became a sailor at the age of fourteen.

Magnino Advances In IBM Engineer Post at Po'keepsie

A former Kingston resident, Joseph J. Magnino Jr., has received a promotion at its Poughkeepsie Plant, according to an announcement from International Business Machines Corporation.

The new technical assistant and staff member of the IBM engineering and research liaison office at Poughkeepsie is a son of Mrs. J. Magnino, 96 Johnston avenue, this city.

His residence in Poughkeepsie is at 7 College View avenue.

Heads Conferences
Mr. Magnino is now chairman of the standing committee for interdivisional conferences and in charge of coordinating all other interdivisional specialized technical meetings.

Prior to his advancement he had been a member of the engineering information and technical publications department of the Poughkeepsie Product Development Laboratory as editor of the IBM Laboratory Newsletter for Poughkeepsie research and engineering.

With IBM Four Years
Mr. Magnino joined IBM in 1953 as a technical engineer assigned to the Project High Standards group, in which he prepared and edited a military reference data manual. He subsequently became assistant to the manager of Project High, and in 1955 was transferred to the Product Development Laboratory's programs and schedules group, where he formulated and developed scheduling activities for the research and engineering laboratories.

While editor of the Newsletter, Mr. Magnino also was coordinator of engineering seminars.

He received his BA degree from New York University in 1954, and since 1954 has been enrolled in the Columbia University Graduate School of Business.

A veteran of World War 2 with the army, Mr. Magnino served also with the U. S. Air Force for three years during the Korean conflict. He now holds the rank of captain in the U. S. Air Force Reserve.

Mr. Magnino also holds membership in the Institute of Radio Engineers, the Operations Research Society of America, the Institute of Management Science, and the IBM Mixed Chorus, Study Club and "Go" Club.

Births Recorded

The city registrar recently recorded the following births:

Dec. 31 — Joanne to Mr. and Mrs. David Steven Nagy, 195 North street, and Edna Irene to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Burton Fortner, town of Ulster.

Jan. 1 — Diane to Mr. and Mrs. Roger Carl Chiquette, town of Ulster; Justin Edward to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Francis Prendergast, 69 Brewster street; Bruce Jr. to Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Shirk, High Falls.

Jan. 2 — Victoria Anne to Mr. and Mrs. James Polito, West Shokan; John Frederick to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ruffner Mandt, 8 Redwood road, Saugerties; and James Joseph to Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Kocsis, 162 Fairview avenue.

Jan. 3 — Vincent Anthony to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Perdue, 307 Clinton avenue; Steven Robert to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Herman Lueben, town of Ulster; Patricia Grace to Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Hamilton, 253 East Union street, and Deborah Gay to Mr. and Mrs. Russell LeFever Fisher, Rifton.

Jan. 4 — James Condon, Jr. to Mr. and Mrs. James Condon Martin, Eddyville; Terri Diane to Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Davis, 473 Wilbur avenue; Yvonne Marie to Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Quick, Willow, and George Henry, Jr. to Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Whittaker, 254 First avenue.

College Surveying Atom Age Problems

New York, Jan. 11 (AP)—Columbia University has established a special faculty council to study problems of a society living in the atomic age.

At a news conference yesterday the university said in a statement:

"The objective of the council is to make the university a center for study of problems facing society as a result of the development of atomic energy, problems which in many instances overlap a number of fields of activity and different branches of learning."

Eight areas of study are represented on the council: Physics, engineering, medicine, international relations, journalism, business, philosophy, and law.

Co-chairmen of the council are Philip C. Jessup, professor of international law, and I. I. Rabi, Nobel prize winner and professor of physics.

Javits Will Call For Power Plants By N. Y. State

Washington, Jan. 11 (AP)—Sen. Javits (R-N.Y.) says he will introduce a bill calling for development of new power plants at Niagara Falls by New York state.

He said yesterday his bill would not include a federal preference clause—a provision that gives first call on project power to municipal electric systems and rural cooperatives.

Javits, in views virtually identical with those he expressed before the Federal Power Commission in November, said he favors a modified preference such as is now contained in New York law. Also, in connection with the proposed project, he said he believes the state should build transmission lines—where needed, and where they do not duplicate existing private utility lines.

In the immediate future, Javits said, he planned to divide his time between Washington and New York. Eventually, he plans that his family will take up residence in Washington—but probably not before next fall.

U. S. Will Send School Orchestra to Poland

Washington, Jan. 11 (AP)—A national high school orchestra may be the first amateur cultural group to travel at U. S. government expense behind the Iron Curtain.

Sen. Potter (R-Mich.) said today the State Department has told him it is "now giving very active consideration" to helping pay for a tour of Poland by the high school orchestra from a national music camp, Interlochen, Mich.

The Polish government has invited the orchestra, composed of 100 boys and girls from all over the United States, Potter said.

"Today young people behind the Iron Curtain are starved for news of the free world," he added. "We have no finer ambassador of good will than intelligent, talented, and properly briefed young Americans."

"This is an insult on the European concept that American youth does nothing but chew gum and ride hot rods."

The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse represent Conquest, Death, Famine and Slaughter.

Boy With Cancer Is 'Practically Hopeless'

New York, Jan. 11 (AP)—Doctors have termed "practically hopeless" the condition of 2½-year-old Thomas Fuller of Norwood, N. Y., blinded by cancer.

His parents, Edward and Mildred Fuller, 26, were told after the June operation that the boy had only a 25 per cent chance of living for a year.

The Fullers brought Tommy here Tuesday to Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center. They are parents of another son, 6.

Tommy was admitted Wednesday to the Center's Institute of Ophthalmology.

In a statement yesterday, hospital physicians said "every effort is being made to bring about improvement in the child's condition," and added:

"Indications are that the cancer has reached the child's brain and that this has caused loss of sight in the left eye."

"In the remote hope that it might be of help, the child is being given a combination of radiation and drug treatment."

Oneida Man Named

Washington, Jan. 11 (AP)—Horace E. Sloane, 50, of Lee Center, Oneida County, N. Y., has been chosen as engineering assistant to Commissioner Robert T. Bartley of the Federal Communications Commission.

Bartley announced Sloane's appointment yesterday. Sloane has been with the commission for 16 years.

Fashion Editors Groggy but Still Wax Enthusiasm

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

New York, Jan. 11 (AP)—Weary members of the American fashion Press wound up a strenuous week of spring style previews today and prepared to depart with good tidings for the folks back home.

You can relax and be comfortable in the new spring clothes. You won't have to go on a starvation diet or cinch yourself into a straining waist-nipper to get into your new spring suit. The smartest way to look in 1957 is at ease.

After covering close to 50 fashion showings in five days, the 250 visiting editors were groggy but still on their feet and still enthusiastic. They were even able to applaud the final showings of the hectic week: Nettie Rosenstein's softly feminine little black dresses and smooth suits; William Fox's distinguished costumes; Tina Leser's casual way with exotic fabrics; Anthony Blotta's precision tailored suits; Ben Reig's parade of expensive dresses; Harvey Bern's collection of exquisitely detailed costumes.

They saw the cream of the crop of current junior fashions at a group luncheon showing, including the smooth, youthful styles of Suzy Perette, Anne Klein and Jack Horowitz.

And they got a final fill-in on little-girl dresses by Kate Greenaway.

These are the major impressions of the new fashions the editors will carry home with them.

Spring suits are slender in line, easy in fit, neither exaggerated or tight, always soft and feminine. Jackets are brief, ranging from bolero to hipbone length, skirts are slim but eased for comfort, fabrics are feather-weight and handsome.

Daytime dresses also are slender in line, handsome in fabric, shaped to follow the lines of the body, often frosted with crisp, lacy lingerie touches.

There is no change in skirt lengths except for dinner and evening wear, when ankle and floor-length gowns are preferred.

MRS. ROBERT JAMES ROTHER

Eileen Dorothy Brophy Is Wed To Robert James Rother January 5

Eileen Dorothy Brophy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Brophy, of 149 O'Neil street, and Robert James Rother of 32 Mesier avenue, Wappingers Falls, son of Mr. and Mrs. August Rother of Chicago, Illinois, were married Saturday, January 5 at 10:30 before a Nuptial Mass at St. Joseph's Church. The Rev. Alfred P. Glancy performed the double ring ceremony.

Traditional wedding hymns were played by Mrs. Frank Rafferty, organist and Robert Gallo was the soloist. The bride was beautifully decorated with white and red poinsettias, white carnations and greens.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, Nicholas Brophy, wore a gown of slipper satin, fitted bodice of Alencon lace, extending into Princess style with Cathedral train, finger tip sleeves and scoop neckline. She wore a pleated satin cap and fingertip illusion veil. She carried a bridal missal with corsage of white carnations, red berries, holly and ivy.

The bridegroom was at 69 West O'Reilly street. They will leave January 22 for Santa Monica, California, where Mr. Rother will be employed as a customer engineer.

The bride was graduated from Kingston High School in 1951 and New Paltz State Teachers College in 1954. She is a member of George Washington School Faculty as a sixth grade teacher.

The bridegroom graduated from St. Patrick's High School, Chicago, Illinois in 1950 and attended Quincy College, Quincy, Ill. and Texas Western College, El Paso, Texas. He was staff sergeant in the U. S. Air Force for four years. He is a customer engineer for IBM 705 Data Processing Machine.

WHEN RELATIVES CALL INFORMALLY

A wife writes as follows: "I would like to know if it is proper or not for relatives to drop in for an evening visit without telephoning first? I think it is very inconsiderate of them to do so. When I have visitors I like to serve refreshments and these unexpected visits often find me totally unprepared. My husband says that since the relatives are brothers and sisters of his and they live in this vicinity that it isn't necessary for them to let me know they are coming beforehand. I would appreciate it if you would let me know if I am wrong in feeling as I do."

As this informal visiting seems customary in your husband's family, I advise you strongly to adjust yourself to their dropping in. If you insist that they call you before paying a visit they will not feel free to come as often and perhaps even may stay away and thus make your husband unhappy.

When Hostess receives Telephone Call

Dear Mrs. Post: Please advise what the hostess should do when she is called to the telephone while she has a visitor? The other day I was the guest and my hostess talked on the telephone almost fifteen minutes during my visit.

Answer: This depends upon the telephoned message. If it is something of real importance, it might be impossible to cut it short. But ordinarily the hostess explains: "Some people are here with me now. May I call you back later?"

Who Pays for the Liquor?

Dear Mrs. Post: I have always been under the impression that the cost of the liquor served at the wedding reception was the obligation of the bride's parents. I have been informed recently that the groom is supposed to pay for this. Will you please enlighten me on this?

Answer: The bride's family are always the hosts at the wedding and they pay every expense, including the liquor. Stationery for social use is described in booklet No. 502, "The Etiquette of Letter Writing."

Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal questions in coin to Dept. E in care of The Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Mrs. Peck Addresses Wiltwyck Chapter

Wiltwyck Chapter, D.A.R., had the pleasure of listening to a very interesting and informative talk by Mrs. Charlotte Peck, director of the Ulster County Cerebral Palsy Clinic, at a recent meeting.

Mrs. Peck spoke of the great strides being made all over the world in the establishment of Treatment and Rehabilitation Centers. She showed a colored movie of a new clinic in the State of Washington, which gave a very vivid idea of what modern equipment and trained workers can accomplish in behalf of handicapped people of all ages. The point stressed was the patience, cooperation, love and interest that must ever be inherent in the worker, for the successful rehabilitation of his patient.

The need for more Treatment and Rehabilitation Centers is apparent when statistics show that there are some 10,000 handicapped born every year; and that it takes many years of constant treatment and teaching to rehabilitate a person, the speaker said.

There was a brief description of the work being done in the clinic at 400 Broadway, which is open five days a week. At the present time there are three physiotherapists who have a full schedule, using all the known methods to bring back to life useless muscles and nerves; working to restore the use of vocal chords of those with speech defects; and helping those with defective hearing.

The clinic here in Kingston has accomplished much during the seven years it has been functioning. There are many children now able to attend public school because of the improved shoes and braces furnished by our clinic. It is mainly supported through the fund raising campaign. It needs volunteer drivers to transport patients to and from their homes and clinic. It is hoped that some day a bank will be established—the funds of which will be used by parents to buy and replace shoes and appliances which are so costly and necessary to these children.

There was a short period of discussion, after which the guests and members enjoyed a social hour around the tea table. Mrs. Clair S. Sheaffer poured and Mrs. Alfred M. Reilly and Mrs. John H. Haulenbeck were the hostesses.

Former Saugerties Resident Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Mason of Gouverneur take pleasure in announcing the engagement of their daughter, Jean Roxi Mason, to Major Edward P. Koel, both of Colorado Springs, Col. The wedding will take place next month in Colorado Springs.

Miss Mason is a graduate of Saugerties High School, class of 1944, and of Syracuse University, class of 1948. She is a member of Alpha Xi Delta, Zeta Phi Eta, Alpha Epsilon Rho and Eta Pi Upsilon fraternities. Following her graduation from the School of Speech at Syracuse, she was employed in the news department of the American Broadcasting Company in New York city for two years, then served as assistant promotion manager for station WSYR-TV in Syracuse for four years.

In 1954, Miss Mason moved to Colorado Springs where she was an actress with Alexander Film Company. In 1955, she was in television in Denver, Col., and currently is acting as society editor at the Broadmoor Hotel in Colorado Springs.

Her father was principal of Saugerties High School for 20 years, and both Mr. and Mrs. Mason are well known throughout the Hudson Valley for their civic, club and church activities. Since 1950, they have lived in Gouverneur where Mr. Mason is superintendent of the centralized school system. Jean Roxi Mason is the granddaughter of Byron L. Langworthy of Shingletown, Pa., and Roy E. Mason of Churchoville.

Major Koel is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lucas Koel of Grafton, O. A graduate of Eaton High School, he entered service in 1941. In 1943 he received his officer's commission in the United States Air Force and was sent to Europe where he flew in the Troop Carrier Command. Holding the Air Medal with two oak leaf clusters, Koel flew 30 combat missions and participated in five major campaigns.

Following World War 2, Koel then a captain, was assigned to the 20th Fighter Bomber Wing at Shaw Field, S. C., during which time he attended the Command School at Scott Field and the Squadron Officers course and the Air University System. In 1951 he flew to England with the 20th, and in 1952 was assigned to the headquarters of the U.S.A.F. in Europe at Wiesbaden, Germany. Returning to the United States in 1953, Major Koel attended the Air Command Staff School in Montgomery, Ala.

Major Koel was assigned to work for the director of communications and electronics of the Air Defense Command in 1954, and came to Colorado Springs at that time.

Suit Against TV Winner Pending

Whether Abe Enfrank, former Passaic, N. J., truck driver, will drive the Cadillac car which he won Tuesday as a "consolation" award on the "64,000 Question" TV program, or whether the car will be sold to satisfy a $393 judgment of Vincent A. Winter of Kingston, apparently remains with the courts.

Enfrank, while appearing on the quiz show Tuesday, told Hal March, master of ceremonies, that he planned to sell the car and would donate $500 of the proceeds for Hungarian athletes due to arrive soon in New York city.

Back in 1950 Winter, of 129 Wrentham street, won a verdict for damages in a New York court. The judgment was never paid.

Recognized on Show
Charles Gaffney, now surrogate of Ulster county, represented Winter. Watching the TV show, Gaffney saw "Abe Enfrank" go to $16,000 on the program. He said he recognized the man as "Abe" Enfrank and obtained a writ of execution in the district court in Passaic, N. J., to attach a part of the TV winnings.

It was stated that Enfrank consented to pay the judgment when he returned to the TV program this week to continue the quiz. However, he "flunked out" on the $64,000 question and was awarded a Cadillac as consolation prize. The writ was served on the Revlon Products Corporation, sponsors of the program, and under the writ the car was held pending either satisfaction of the judgment or disposition of the car and meeting the judgment from the proceeds.

The matter is being handled by New Jersey attorneys on behalf of Attorney Gaffney, who said today the final adjustment of the matter was still pending.

Arrest of Four Solves Buffalo Bank Robberies

Buffalo, N. Y., Jan. 11 (AP)—The Federal Bureau of Investigation today claimed that the arrest of four men had solved two major Buffalo bank robberies and nipped a third one in the planning stage.

Two of the men, Frank R. Coppola, 23, and Dario C. D'Antuono, 28, both of Niagara Falls, were charged with violation of the Federal Bank Robbery Act in the $52,529 holdup last Feb. 15 of the Clinton-Bailey Branch of the Manufacturers & Traders Trust Co.

Coppola and D'Antuono, plus Joseph A. Synakowski, 28, and Carmela Joseph Giambra, 30, both of Buffalo, were charged identically in a holdup that netted $23,775 last Oct. 2 at the Lincoln Branch of the Liberty Bank of Buffalo.

John A. Roche, special agent in charge of the FBI office here also charged Coppola, D'Antuono and Synakowski with conspiracy in what he called the planned holdup of the Seneca-Emile Branch of the Liberty Bank.

Brother of Boxer
Giambra was identified by the FBI as a brother of Joe Giambra, eighth ranked middleweight boxing contender.

Roche praised Buffalo police and the Erie county sheriff's department for cooperating in the case.

Coppola, D'Antuono and Synakowski were picked up yesterday in a massive congregation of police and FBI agents on the east side. Roche said the three had carried plans for the Seneca-Emile Branch holdup so far away route and arranged for a hide-out.

Taken Without Trouble
Giambra was arrested early today in a restaurant.

None of the four put up any resistance.

Roche said the FBI and local police and sheriff's men had been following the activities of the four men for the past two months.

Yesterday's arrests were cloaked in secrecy as authorities worked to complete the bank robbery cases.

Hall Quits GOP

advice and party leadership. But I must accept his decision no matter how reluctant I may be to do so.

"Leonard Hall has been a great chairman. Under his guidance and direction, the Republican party organization has been revitalized and reorganized. Today, largely through his efforts, the party is attracting many thousands of new supporters, particularly from the younger voters of our nation."

Hall has been chairman since April 10, 1953. He telegraphed the 146 members of the committee and also informed Vice President Nixon of his action.

Hall had left little doubt of his plans after his 30-minute meeting with the president but he refused at that time to come right out and say what he would do.

To Meet Committee
Hall said he would turn in his resignation at a meeting of the committee here Jan. 22. At a committee Jan. 19, he said, he will appoint the customary sub-committee to confer with the chairman at the Jan. 22 meeting.

It is understood Hall will take about a six weeks vacation. He probably will be proposed for some government post later. He also is reported to be considering running for the Republican nomination for governor of New York next year.

He was silent on such matters as he left the White House. And he brushed off a question as to whether any successor was discussed.

This was the third of a series of meetings between Hall and the President. The one today lasted about 30 minutes.

Ex-House Member
The 56-year-old former U. S. House member from New York is known to have wanted to quit the committee post sometime in the near future, but he has refused to discuss his plans publicly until he has given a final decision to the President.

Editors Can't See

would not be granted youthful offender treatment unless the judge feels the best interest of the youth and the public would be served.

Other Suggestions
Other suggested amendments provide for excluding from Youth Court jurisdiction misdemeanors arising out of violations of traffic and local municipal laws or ordinances, thus reducing case volume; magistrates to arraign youths where a Youth Court judge is unavailable; Youth Court power to impose fines of up to $500 in youthful offender cases; charging those in the 16-17 age group with the alleged crime rather than as youthful offenders—while deeming them arraigned as youthful offenders to avoid an arrest record—at the time of arrest; and application of the act only to crimes committed after the effective date, thus easing the transition period by allowing pending cases to be tried in the courts in which they were brought and allowing the Youth Courts to start with clear calendars and build their caseloads and staffs gradually.

Stigma Main Concern
Youthful offender treatment is designed for deserving youth 16 and under 21 not previously convicted of a felony and not charged with a crime punishable by death or life imprisonment. Its aim is to eliminate the stigma of a criminal record. Youthful offenders can be given suspended sentences, with or without probation, or be committed to a state, local or private reformatory institution for an indefinite period not exceeding three years. The youthful offender adjudication, however, does constitute a criminal conviction.

The commission said one of its fundamental purposes was to concentrate the handling of youth cases in a single court in each county and eliminate the present "hodgepodge of judicial determination and administration."

Statement Given
The 10-member, bi-partisan, unsalaried commission, which was appointed by Gov. Averell Harriman and the Legislature and is headed by Harrison Tweed, said:

"There is a heavy responsibility on the state to see that procedures and facilities for the rehabilitation of the lawbreakers in this age group (16 through 20) are made available. Unless there is a unified court for the handling of youth cases, there is no possibility of substantial uniformity of treatment or of effective use of modern techniques in rehabilitation through the auxiliary services of the court."

The commission said it felt the proposed amendments "meet in substance the major criticisms" and "all of the valid objections" of the act.

King, managing editor of the Utica Observer-Dispatch, said of the proposal that records of youthful offender cases remain public for three months: "This well could be trouble for a newspaper if it tried later to back up with the record something it published when the documents were open."

Regarding offenders aged 18-20, King said:

"Youths' age 18 to 20 who can buy drink, who want a vote, who drive with senior licenses and who are willing and able to bear arms are responsible in the opinion of the State Society of Editors."

"Leaving disposition of these cases involving youths 18 through 20 years up to the courts is a dangerous precedent. You and I have the right to know the marauders in our own neighborhood. Under the original youth court act and despite the proposed amendments, you may never know if you live next door to a criminal."

Water Rents Due
The water department today announced that quarterly water rents are now due at the department's office, City Hall. The office is closed Saturdays but remains open until 6 p. m. on Mondays.

Seven Killed In Air Crash; One Is Missing

Andover, N. B., Jan. 11 (AP)—Frozen woodlands near here were searched today for one air force man still missing from the crew of an eight-engine B-52 bomber which exploded in flight yesterday. Seven bodies were found and one man parachuted with minor injuries.

Hundreds of air force men, Royal Canadian Mounted Police and French-Canadian trappers and guides, warmly garbed against temperatures which went far below zero, hunted for the man still unaccounted for.

A spokesman from the jet plane's Loring Air Force base at Limestone, Maine, said the man may have parachuted. He said two parachutes were reported seen by residents of the area but that they lost sight of one of them.

The spokesman said Capt. Richard A. Jenkins, the commander of the craft and one of those killed, was at the controls, his head partially covered by a visor-type hood used in reflex tests. With the covering the pilot can see the instrument panel but cannot see outside the plane.

Six bodies were recovered in the wreckage or the deep snow yesterday. A seventh was found in part of the plane early today by searchers carrying portable lamps.

St. Paul's Couples Discuss Activities

The Couples' Club of St. Paul's Lutheran Church began their New Year's activities recently with a meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Trodler.

It was voted to purchase some films to be used from time to time with the new projector which was procured last year. A committee was appointed to welcome visitors attending the services. The meeting was closed with a Bible devotion and an interesting and profitable discussion. Refreshments were served.

St. Mary's Holy Name Speaker

WILLIAM A. KELLY

Charles A. Ryan, president of St. Mary's Holy Name Society, has announced that William A. Kelly, former county judge, will be guest speaker at the annual communion breakfast Sunday, Jan. 13.

Members will receive Holy Communion at the 8 o'clock Mass at St. Mary's Church, and the breakfast will follow at Knights of Columbus Hall at 9 o'clock.

Special guests of honor will be the eight charter members of the society, Leo J. Fitzgerald, chairman of the committee, says the accommodations are limited to 200 and all reservations must be made by Friday night.

A short speaking program will follow the breakfast, when former President Joseph F. Sullivan will preside. In addition to the main speaker, an address will be made by the Spiritual Director, the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly.

Inaugural Holiday

Washington, Jan. 11 (AP)—President Eisenhower today signed the first legislation from the new 85th Congress—a resolution making inauguration day a legal holiday in the metropolitan area of the capital. This is a law that will make every inauguration day from here on a holiday in the District of Columbia, Montgomery and Prince Georges counties in Maryland, Arlington and Fairfax counties in Virginia, and the cities of Alexandria and Falls Church, Va.

The resolution provides, too, that when the regular inauguration day, Jan. 20, falls on a Sunday, the inauguration will be held the following day. That situation arose this year, when Jan. 20 is on a Sunday.

Hurley Dog Licenses Available Two Days

Charles Goble Jr., clerk of the town of Hurley, announced today he will issue dog licenses to residents of the town Tuesday, Jan. 15, at the town hall in Old Hurley and Tuesday, Jan. 22, at the town hall in West Hurley. Office hours both days will be from 7 to 9 p. m.

He also pointed out that licenses may be obtained by mail. Dog owners should remit fees and a stamped self-addressed envelope. Applications should be addressed to him at RD 3, Hurley Heights, Kingston.

A game social for the benefit of St. Francis de Sales parish of Boiceville and Pine Hill, will be held in the parish hall, Main street, Phenicia, Wednesday at 8 p. m. Refreshments will be served and prizes will be awarded.

Mrs. Lindsay Hoyt has been appointed March of Dimes chairman for Mt. Tremper and Mt. Pleasant.

Chou in Poland

Warsaw, Jan. 11 (AP)—Communist China's globe-crossing premier, Chou En-lai, arrived today from Moscow, apparently seeking to bring Poland back in line with the rest of the Soviet bloc.

He told Polish government and party leaders who met him at a military airfield the Communist parties must unite to clear the road to socialism "under the leadership of the Soviet Union." Chou added that Communist parties faced many difficulties both internally and in relation to each other. He said these must be overcome.

Noted Gun Expert to Address Lake Katrine Club's Banquet

Warren Page Due At SRS on Jan. 26

Warren Page, shooting editor of Field and Stream magazine, whose articles appear frequently on the sports pages of The Freeman, will be guest speaker at the Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club's annual banquet, club president, Roland Post, said today.

The dinner dance will be held Saturday, Jan. 26, at the SRS Home at Cottekill.

"We are quite happy to land such a nationally known speaker and outdoor authority," Post said, "and we're looking for the largest attendance in history."

To Show Film

Page will make a short speech then narrate a new 45-minute film "King Caribou" which he photographed in the heart of the Alaskan range this past summer.

The hunt produced not only a record moose for Mr. Page but a remarkable and rare Barren Ground caribou. The herd stag, of some 60 cows, this trophy boasted a rack due to rank among the best in the Boone and Crockett world big game records.

This was the fifth Alaskan expedition for Mr. Page, who on earlier hunts has taken four massive Alaskan brown bears, and in 1952 collected two specimens of the rare blue or glacier bear of the Yakutat, being the first sportsman to do so since 1905.

African Trip

In Kenya and Tanganyika on safari last summer, to his rifles fell trophies of all East African game, including elephant, rhino, lion, buffalo and record heads of the plains species.

At Emperor Haile Selassie's invitation, this safari was followed by an expedition into the 16,000 foot Semien range of central Ethiopia, to hunt the exotic Abyssinian ibex. Other experiences overseas involved ten-foot tigers and slading in India, quarter-ton wild boar in the Euphrates marshes and the strange sheep and markhor of the mountains of Baluchistan.

Hartwick Trims Hobart, 73-63

(By The Associated Press)

Nine basketball games to-night and 15 tomorrow offer upstate New York fans their biggest feast of the year.

Only two games were played yesterday. Hartwick posted a 73-63 victory at Hobart, and St. Lawrence registered an 83-75 home court triumph over Middlebury.

Boston University at Colgate, and undefeated Union at Alfred headline tonight's schedule.

Tomorrow's 15-game card features a Buffalo doubleheader which includes three of the state's top clubs. Niagara opposes St. Bonaventure and Canisius. No. 14 in the country, tackles St. Vincent of Pennsylvania.

BU Plays Syracuse

Other important games tomorrow find Union at Rochester, Buffalo at Colgate and Princeton at Cornell. Boston University plays Syracuse and Lehigh meets Buffalo State in a doubleheader at the Syracuse War Memorial Auditorium.

Hartwick, sparkplugged by Jerry Lewis' 25 points, overcame a five-point halftime deficit to deadlock the score with nine minutes to go.

Hartwick then pulled steadily ahead to gain its seventh victory in eight tries. Hobart's record is 4-3.

Lou Gramaldi of St. Lawrence got 32 points, including a field goal in the final minutes to put the Larries ahead.

The win gives St. Lawrence a 4-4 record.

Logan, Bruton Disagree on Pennant Race

Milwaukee, Jan. 11 (AP)—Johnny Logan of the Milwaukee Braves doesn't agree with teammate Billy Bruton's statement that the 1957 National League baseball race could be a "runaway if Cincinnati gets a little pitching help."

"I don't see it that way at all," said shortstop Logan today. "Far from a runaway for any team, I think it'll be another three or four team race right down to the wire just like last season."

Bruton was quoted in Detroit Wednesday as saying the Redlegs possessed tremendous power, a beautiful defense and "all they is a little more pitching."

He also said he didn't think Brooklyn would be as strong.

"Billy is entitled to his opinion," Logan continued, "but I think it'll be another race decided by a toss of the coin. Birdie Tebbets is a real good manager and he did a good job at Cincinnati, but he still has to show me he can win a pennant, let alone in a breeze."

He said he figured the Braves, Brooklyn, Cincinnati, St. Louis and perhaps Pittsburgh would be in the thick of the race.

Italian Bridge Team Leads by 7,980

New York, Jan. 11 (AP)—The Italian team led by 7,980 points over the American team after last night's session of the world contract bridge championship.

With only 28 boards left of the original schedule of 224 hands, the only question remaining is how big a margin the European champions will win by when the match ends tonight.

The play will be telecast to-night (9-10 p. m. EST) by station WOR-TV, local channel 9.

No play is scheduled for this afternoon.

IBG Wins Trust Suit

Cleveland, Jan. 11 (AP)—The government's anti-trust case against the International Boxing Guild, its affiliate and three of their officers was dealt a knockout blow yesterday by Federal Judge James C. Connell, who acquitted the defendants.

Officers freed of the anti-trust violation charges were Charles Johnston of New York, president of the IBG; William Daly, New York, IBG general treasurer, and Albert W. Del Monte of Cleveland, president of the Boxing Guild of Ohio.

A move for acquittal was made by defense counsel Edward Knachel after the government had rested its case. He contended that the testimony of 10 witnesses for the government had failed to prove the defendants had conspired to violate anti-trust laws by price-fixing and boycotting in promotion of studio boxing bouts over television station WEWS in Cleveland.

The Guild's defense was that it acted as a "labor union" to assure boxers they would not be underpaid. Evidence showed the fighters received as little as $10 a round for four-round bouts in the non-audience studio shows here.

Basilio-Saxton Bout Postponed To February 22

Cleveland, Jan. 10 (AP)—Welterweight champion Carmen Basilio convinced the Cleveland Boxing Commission today that his right is too tender to throw at Johnny Saxton's jaw here Jan. 18.

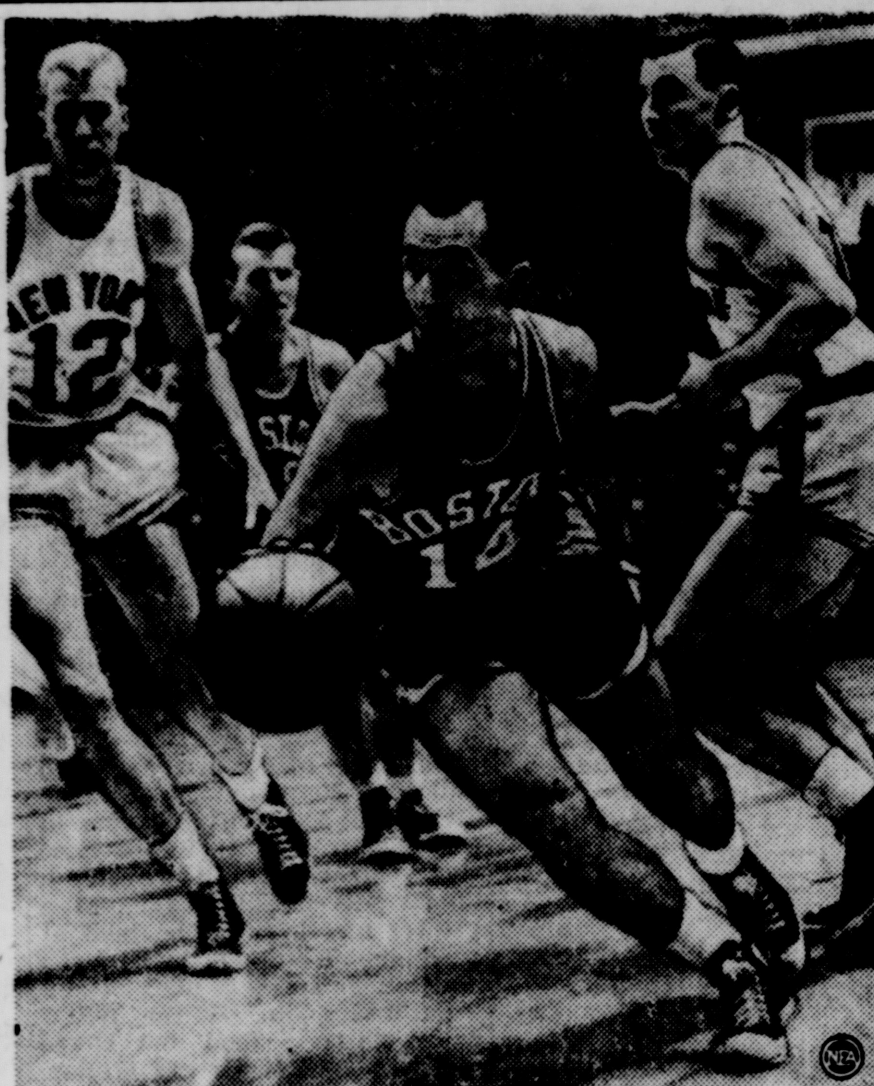

Matchmaker Larry Atkins, who had peddled some $50,000 worth of tickets for the 15-round title bout, said he would reschedule the bout for Friday, Feb. 22, at the Cleveland Arena.

Basilio said in Syracuse last night that his hand was bruised from a training injury and he wanted a postponement of the bout with Saxton, from whom he regained the crown at Syracuse last September 12.

"Why fight with one hand?" Basilio asked. "I want to be in perfect condition when I fight for the championship."

Postpone Bout

Cleveland, Jan. 11 (AP)—Welterweight champion Carmen Basilio had his Jan. 18 title bout with Johnny Saxton postponed yesterday to Feb. 22 because of his injured right hand.

CLOSE THE DOOR!—Boston's Bob Cousy whisked through an opening between two New York players, Ken Sears (12) and Richie Guerin, left them startled and everybody else worried as he drove on for the basket. This is typical Cousy and it brings the crowd's out.

Charles J. Tiano

The Old Timers baseball dinners, rapidly approaching the magnitude of the Kingston Athletic Association extravaganza of the past was this year, as always, a pleasant melange of arnica and old lace, plus a liberal sprinkling of Harry Grayson at his best.

The silver-thatched NEA sports editor pleased those who had heard him before and jolted the neophytes. He was in top form, sharing the billing with J. Richard McCarthy, who did a classic stint on Charlie Lay and Pres Knight.

When Grayson unwinds he rambles over a variety of topics, coherently, forcefully and with a smattering of colorful language. It would be difficult and arbitrary to single out a topical highlight. There were just too many of them. Here are a few samples:

Vince Lombardo, line coach of the New York Giants, is the "best new mind" in modern football. Grayson attributed the Giants' amazing comeback in 1957 to Lombardo's brilliant line coaching and his work on Mel Triplett, the best blocking back in the game.

Bobby Layne had no squawk coming in the rhubarb with the Bears' Ed Meadows. "Layne is an old pro," said Grayson. "He had gotten rid of the ball when Meadows hit him. He should have been out of the way."

Oklahoma is the most fantastic organization in college football history. It has four backfield men who can pass, its opponents with just three plays, one of them a quarterback sneak, which Grayson chides, "is no play at all."

The Wilt Chamberlain ghosting from Philadelphia to the campus of the University of Kansas stinks. Grayson reiterated a stand taken by NEA a year ago that Chamberlain had played pro ball throughout Pennsylvania and Maryland. "Of course he got a good deal," said Grayson as the house rocked with laughter.

Gene Fullmer is the nicest thing that has happened to boxing in many years. A clean-cut kid, throwback to old fighters and no mob guy. He's a much better fighter than he looked on your TV screen the night he whipped Ray Robinson. "He'll take Robinson out within nine rounds the next time."

"I don't know about the new heavyweight champion," (Floyd Patterson) said Grayson. "He qualified for a title shot by licking a clown (Hurricane Jackson) on a split decision. Who did he ever lick?"

Best looking young heavyweight is Eddie Machen, a contender although boxing only 21 months. "He has the combinations, also the best left hook among the heavyweights. When he learns to protect himself, he'll be rough. The next real heavyweight bout will be Machen against Patterson."

"I doubt if Rocky Marciano will ever fight again. Rocky took a lot of beating in his career, has been idle too long."

"The best fighter I ever saw in 41 years on the sports beat was the Jack Dempsey of 1917 to 1923. Gene Tunney licked only a shell of the real Dempsey."

The New York Giants probably will leave the Polo Grounds next year and move to Yankee Stadium, like the football Giants. The club was hard hit by the draft, the parking situation is bad and "people just stopped going to the Polo Grounds."

Grayson predicted the Brooklyn Dodgers would remain at Ebbets Field and get that new stadium they have been talking about. He lambasted the major league moguls—Commissioner Ford Frick, presidents Warren Giles and Will Harridge—for lack of foresight.

"They better stop shopping around for new cities. The Athletics in Kansas City are the same old Athletics that couldn't make a go of it in Philadelphia. The novelty wears off fast. They'd better improve the product before they run out of cities."

"Organizations like this group (Old Timers Association) are a wonderful thing. Baseball, slowly being strangled by TV, needs all the help it can get. Nice to see you honor a young lad like Hoffman (Joey). Keep up the good work in Kingston."

Schayes Sets NBA Record

(By The Associated Press)

The Syracuse Nationals are down in the National Basketball Assn. this season, but their longtime star, Dolph Schayes, is still up there with the best.

The parallel was clear last night as the Nats, Eastern Division cellar-dwellers, took on the Chicago Bulls, 118-110 from the Minneapolis Lakers. But Schayes, former New York University great, broke a 5-year-old free throw record en route to a 40-point performance.

Schayes, the only Nat selected for the Eastern All-Stars this season, cashed a perfect 18 tries from the foul line. The old mark of 17 without a miss in one game was set by Paul Arizin of the Philadelphia Warriors, Feb. 8, 1952, against Syracuse.

The loss left the Nats four games behind the New York Knickerbockers, 89-84 overtime winners against the St. Louis Hawks in the first game of a doubleheader at Philadelphia.

In the nightcap, the Warriors knocked off the Rochester Royals 112-93. Out in Fort Wayne, the Boston Celtics, top eastern club, maintained a four-game spread over Philadelphia by lacing the Pistons 98-81.

Kenny Sears ruined Slater Martin's debut as Hawk coach. Sears, who rang up 23 points, scored six of the Knicks' nine overtime markers. A 38-point performance by Bob Pettit went out the window.

Star Chief Pays $26.50 at Tropical

Miami, Fla., Jan. 10 (AP)—S. D. Hinkle's Star Chief, a 12-to-1 outsider, won his first purse in three years when he drove to a surprise triumph in the Kentucky Club Purse at Tropical Park today.

Star Chief, ridden by Charlie Burr, stepped the six furlongs on a lightning fast track in 1:10 2/5. He paid $26.50, $11.80 and $5.00. New Holland was second and returned $11.00 and $4.90. Black Record was $2.60 to show.

A crowd of 9,728 that baked in 80-degree weather, watched the race.

White Sox Sign Larry Doby

Chicago, Jan. 10 (AP)—Outfielder Larry Doby who used to have contract wrangles with the Cleveland Indians, today became the third Chicago White Sox player signed for 1957.

It was announced that Doby, who led the 1955 Sox in RBIs with 102, home runs with 24, and bases on balls 102, agreed to the same terms he played under last season.

scored six of the Knicks' nine overtime markers. A 38-point performance by Bob Pettit went out the window.

Westrum Names Spahn Best Pitcher In NL

Giants' Catcher

Speaks at Kiwanis

Warren Spahn, the indestructible southpaw of the Milwaukee Braves, is the National League's No. 1 pitcher, Wes Westrum, New York Giant catcher, said in a speech before the Kiwanis Club Thursday.

Westrum, who played wartime ball for the Kingston Recreationists, named Spahn over Big Don Newcombe, the 27-game winner of the champion Brooklyn Dodgers, who was voted the Pitcher of the Year and the National League's Most Valuable Player.

Westrum's response to questions from the audience in a question-and-answer period after his speech caused a great deal of merriment. The setting was even incongruous, with a snow-storm blowing outside.

Inside Stuff

The Giants catcher neatly sidestepped a few questions, then revealed that those chats during the pitcher and catcher during a tense moment in a baseball game could be about any subject, with the only purpose being to calm down the troubled hurler. He also stated in response to questioning concerning relative merits of teams in both the American and National Leagues, that there are no weak sisters in the National League.

Another question concerned the future of the no-windup recently employed by pitchers Don Larsen and Bob Turley of the New York Yankees. Westrum's opinion indicated that probably more pitchers would be using the no-windup method because it eliminates the "telegraphing" of what the pitcher is going to toss on his next pitch to the plate.

"Everybody's Tough"

To the question of who was the toughest pitcher in the National League, the New York Giant catcher quipped: "Anybody who throws a ball." This led to a question concerning the pitch called a knuckleball. Westrum revealed that the direction of the wind has a great deal to do with the effectiveness of the knuckleball, and then jokingly remarked that too often neither the pitcher, the batter, nor the catcher knew where a knuckleball pitch was going. He said the best way for a catcher to catch a knuckleball thrown by a pitcher, was "to relax—it should come near you."

In closing, Wes Westrum paid tribute to the managing tactics of Leo Durocher, former New York Giant manager, and Bill Rigney, current manager. He refused to answer the question of which three teams would lead the National League in 1957—"until October 1st!"

Frank Schilling, program chairman for the Kiwanis Club, arranged for Westrum's appearance.

QUIZ

Written for NEA Service

Question: The Boston Celtics have a play in which a high pass is lobbed at Bill Russell and he leaps up and tries to guide the ball in. Isn't that illegal this season?—Norman Rogers.

Answer: Guiding a shot is illegal in college basketball only this season. You're allowed to do it as a professional.

Q. A player throws the ball in from out of bounds behind the basket. The ball strikes the backboard, kicks off into the corner, where a defensive team man grabs it. Is this a dead ball?—Bill Cassella.

A. It is a live ball the minute the defensive man touches it.

Q. Passing the ball, what is the first rule you're not supposed to break?—Louis Benfante.

A. Never pass across the court. It's the best way to have the ball intercepted.

Q. Screening for a shooter are you allowed to move your arms?—George Bruce.

A. It is smart to remain motionless, for movement creates contact and the foul would be on you most times. I often fake a shot before screening, but this is always done while I'm in the act of passing the ball to the man I screen for. Once he has the ball, I stay still.

The "bald" eagle really isn't. Those few white feathers on top of his head just make him look "bald."

Bitter Cold Grips New England Areas

Boston, Jan. 11 (AP)—Bitter cold weather ranging to 17 below zero gripped New England today in the wake of the third storm this month which yesterday took three lives.

Coldest spot in New England in the pre-dawn hours was Lebanon, N. H., where the thermometer registered a frigid 17-below.

Caribou, Maine, had a temperature of 15 degrees below zero, while in Burlington, Vt., it was only two degrees warmer at 13-below.

The official temperature in Montpelier, Vt., was 4-below. Zero temperatures were recorded at Worcester, Mass., and Concord, N. H. Portland, Maine, had an early morning reading of 2-above.

It got to a very cold 7-above zero temperature in Boston. The Weather Bureau said the temperatures would remain near 20 in southern New England and below that in the north during the day.

Snowfall up to eight inches pelted this area, causing many communities to cancel school sessions and creating hazardous driving conditions.

Briefly Told

Albany, Jan. 11 (AP)—Today is Alexander Hamilton day in New York state.

Hamilton, born 200 years ago, became the first secretary of the treasury, serving under President Washington.

He evolved the doctrine of federal "implied" powers, which Gov. Harriman yesterday called "the model ever since of constitutional construction."

Albany, Jan. 11 (P)—Gov. Harriman, a ski fan, was set to test the slopes of Gore Mountain at North Creek in the Adirondacks today.

Harriman was invited there by a group of area residents last November. The mountain now has a privately owned ski course. The area residents want the state to build a skiing development.

Watertown, Jan. 11 (P)—A 59-year-old woman was burned fatally yesterday when a coal stove in her second floor apartment exploded.

The victim was Mrs. Anna B. Roden.

Firemen said they believed an accumulation of coal gas in the stove caused the explosion.

Washington, Jan. 11 (P)—Southern Tier radio service has been authorized by the Federal Communications Commission to transfer Binghamton radio station WINR and proposed channel 40 station WINR-TV to the Binghamton Press Co. for $165,000.

The commission yesterday also granted additional time to June 16 for completing construction of the TV outlet.

LaMarca Given Execution Stay

Albany, Jan. 11 (P)—The state's highest court has stayed the scheduled execution of Angelo LaMarca, kidnap-slayer of baby Peter Weinberger.

LaMarca was sentenced to die in Sing-Sing Prison's electric chair the week of Jan. 28, following his conviction in Nassau County Court last month on a charge of first-degree murder.

State law requires appeal of all convictions carrying the death penalty. On receipt of appeal, the Court of Appeals stays execution and, if it upholds the conviction, sets a new execution date.

LaMarca's appeal probably will not be heard until the March or April terms, a spokesman for the court said yesterday.

Eliot Takes Bride

London, Jan. 11 (P)—T. S. Eliot, 68-year-old Nobel prize-winning poet, was honeymooning somewhere in Europe today with his 30-year-old secretary, Valerie Fletcher, who married secretly yesterday at St. Barnabas Church. The 6:15 a. m. ceremony was performed by the vicar, the Rev. Charles Wright, and the only guests were Eliot's lawyer, G. F. Higginson, and the bride's parents.

Flemish in the northern provinces and French in the southern provinces are the two official languages of Belgium.

Cold Blamed for Deaths

New Delhi, India, Jan. 11 (P)—At least 10 deaths have been blamed on an unusual cold wave now gripping northern India for the fifth day. The frigid blast, which has dumped six feet of snow in some Himalayan regions, brought icy winds and rains to the plains from Amritsar to Lucknow. Temperatures in the plains area hovered around the freezing mark. Those regions, which experience 100-degree-plus summer temperatures, usually have chilly winters. But a cold wave like the one now is rare and brings great suffering to people unprepared for such conditions.

Patman Charges GOP Is Ready For Depression

Washington, Jan. 11 (P)—Rep. Patman (D-Texas) contended today administration fiscal planners "are getting ready for a depression" caused, he said, by continued tight credit and high interest rates.

"There are too many people in high places who honestly think we should go through a depression, and they give a great many arguments why it would be helpful to the private enterprise system," he said in an interview.

Any depression now, he contended, would be "entirely man-made."

The administration has defended its present "hard money" policy, including higher interest rates and tighter credit controls, as a necessary safeguard against inflation.

Patman, who is frequently at odds with the administration on fiscal policy, criticized President Eisenhower's proposal to Congress yesterday for an independent commission of "the nature, performance and adequacy of our financial system."

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Jan. 11 (P)—The cash position of the treasury Jan. 8, 1957: Balance, $2,860,027,366.23; deposits fiscal year July 1, $33,837,134,706.50; withdrawals fiscal year, $40,869,504,306.60; total debt, (x)$276,241,374,982.40; gold assets, $21,949,707,633.69; x—includes $454,538,145.36 debt not subject to statutory limit.

Mother Victim

Graham to Die Today for Plane Deaths of 44

Canon City, Colo., Jan. 11 (P)—This is the last day of life for John Gilbert Graham, condemned slayer of 44 persons.

Graham was sentenced to die this week for the murder of his 53-year-old mother, Mrs. Daisie King. She was one of the 44 persons aboard the United Air Lines plane blown to bits Nov. 1, 1955, over a northern Colorado beet field.

No Special Requests
Colorado custom is to carry out executions Friday night.

The 24-year-old Graham had no special requests on the eve of his execution.

Warden Harry Tinsley said Graham, in response to questions during a 15-minute visit yesterday, asked for no special last meal or any fresh reading material.

Tinsley quoted the young father of two children as saying "he'd just as soon" have the same food as other prisoners. Another visitor was the Rev. Lloyd C. Kellams of Lakewood Methodist Community Church in suburban Denver. That is the church where Graham and his young wife, Gloria, were married in 1953, before the Rev. Kellams became pastor.

Reports Confession
Tinsley said the clergyman spent about three hours with Graham.

"Jack's whole peace of mind has been established as far as his maker is concerned," the Rev. Kellams said.

The clergyman first disclosed
